Finnish Foreign Minister Calls On Soviet Union To Resume Peace Negotiations

Finland Still Wants Peace, He Says, But If Moscow's Aim Is Conquest, "Then the Finns Will Fight to the End"

(By Associated Press.)

HELSINKI, Dec. 15.—Finland's foreign minister, Vaino Tanner, today appealed in a radio broadcast to Russian Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff for a suspension of hostilities and resumption of negotiations on the basis of the principle of small nations' right of self determination.

Tanner, who took part in the long-drawn Kremlin negotiations which preceded the Russian invasion, recalled that Russia had lent support to this principle.

He recalled also how the Moscow government broke off diplomatic relations with Finland, refused mediation by the United States, rejected Sweden's efforts at conciliation and spurned the League of Nations' appeal for mediation of the dispute.

"However, the air is still open," Tanner said.

Quotes Stalin Slogan

"When I recently visited the big agricultural exposition at Moscow", the Finnish foreign minister said, "I saw on the wall of one of the buildings a stirring sentence by your leader, Mr. Stalin:

"'The Soviet Union does not covet a single inch of the territory of other states but it will defend every inch of its own soil'.

"There is reason at this moment to save that slogan from sinking into oblivion.

"Finland still is ready for peaceful negotiation, but if Moscow's aim is conquest of the whole country then the Finns will fight to the end.

"Already the first 16 days have shown that the war will be fierce and demand many victims. Why shed blood so long as there are other possibilities unexamined?"

Meanwhile Finland's defenders were retreating on the far northern front, holding their own on the vital Karelian isthmus and reporting successful counter attacks on the central fronts.

All reservists thus far not called to the colors but capable of serving were summoned today and must report tomorrow fully equipped.

Graf Spee Taking On Fuel; May Make Run For The Sea

Buries Its Dead On Uruguayan Soil; British, Meanwhile, Augment Patrol; French Battleship Reported On Way to Aid

(By Associated Press)

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 15—Refuelling of the battered German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee began today amid growing expectation she would put to sea despite the increased strength of British warships lying off this neutral refuge in wait for her.

Oil was loaded into the Graf Spee from the German freighter Tacoma and the warship's crew worked to repair the damage caused by Wednesday's day-long shelling by three British cruisers which finally forced the German ship to take refuge here.

Bury Their Dead

While preparations for a possible dash for freedom were being made, officers and a third of the Graf Spee's crew buried on Uruguayan soil the 36 men killed in the Wednesday battle, first major naval engagement of the European war.

British quarters here indicated that the 10,000-ton British cruiser Cumberland had been added to the patrol off Montevideo and official Argentine sources said they "understood" that the 26,500-ton French battleship Dunkerque was steaming here to join the blockading force. However, the feeling grew in Montevideo that the German ship would attempt to run the gantlet.

Combined with the British cruisers Ajax and Achilles, victors over the Admiral Graf Spee in Wednesday's running battle off the Uruguayan coast, these warships would confront the 10,000-ton pocket battleship with more than 50,000 tons of naval power in any gamble for feedom.

The Dunkerque alone is rated by naval experts as one of the five allied warships capable of dealing with the raider if she gave battle.

But the Admiral Graf Spee will not be confronted for some time yet with a choice between internment for the duration of the war and making a break for the open sea. Action by the Uruguayan government postponed the choice.

No Deadline Set

Foreign Minister Alberto Guani said last night that, "in accordance with the Uruguayan neutrality law and international law", the Admiral Graf Spee could lie in Montevideo harbor until she could repair the damage suffered in the 14-hour sea battle.

Guani declined to say how long this extension of the formal 24-hour limit for visits of belligerent ships would run, but explained that it would be sufficient to permit rendering the battleship seaworthy.

Sixty-two British seamen, taken from nine merchantmen during the Admiral Graf Spee's weeks of raiding were surrendered last evening.

They related the ordeal of waiting in cells below decks, counting and cheering each British hit on their floating prison, realizing at the same time that they were doomed if the battleship went down. Their prison was directly under one of the Admiral Graf Spee's 11-inch turrets.

Prisoners Awakened

An officer of the British steamer Doric Star, taken prisoner when his ship was sunk Dec. 4 off the African coast, told how the cannonading awakened the prisoners early Wednesday.

"We knew what that sound meant", he said, "and we knew it was serious when the guards of our quarters locked and barred the doors and left to go to their battle stations.

"As the battle progressed most of us realized that a British victory might mean our deaths, but nevertheless there was singing and cheering for the attackers.

"Altogether we counted 17 hits by British shells on the Graf Spee in various encounters that day.

MEMORIAL PLOT IS COMPLETED

Work On Firestone Burial Ground, Columbiana, Finished

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 15—Work that has been in progress since Oct. 1 on the erection of a memorial and landscaping of the Harvey S. Firestone burial plot in the Columbiana cemetery has been completed with the planting of shrubbery

Alling S. DeForest of Rochester, N. Y., landscape architect who has been a Firestone employe for a number of years, spent considerable time here superintending arrangement of the shrubbery.

The imposing granite memorial, erected by a Boston concern, was completed several weeks ago.

Monument Work of Art

Its base consists of three circular tiers of granite in ascending steps, the circle formed being about 20 feet in diameter.

Within this circle the bodies of both Mr. and Mrs. Firestone are to be laid to rest. Mr. Firestone's body is to be moved from its temporary resting place when the memorial is dedicated in May of 1940.

Resting on the circular base are eight massive, fluted granite columns, 13-feet high, surmounted by another circular tier of granite, which tops off the monument.

The Firestone name does not appear on the monument but the names of both Mr. and Mrs. Firestone will be carved on small head stones to be placed at their graves.

Inscription From John 3:16

The sole inscription on the monument is the New Testament verse, John 3:16. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." It appears on the top granite circle.

Coal Truck Drivers Arrested By Patrol

Drivers of two coal trucks which passed other cars at the crest of hills were arrested yesterday on charges of reckless driving by Salem state highway patrolmen.

Patrolman James White and Robert Jones were forced to drive their patrol car to the edge of the Route 14 highway near Columbiana, when Nick Petti of Cleveland drove his truck over a hill on the wrong side of the road. An accident was narrowly averted, the officers said.

Petti was hailed before Justice S. S. Weaver at Columbiana who fined him $10 and costs.

Enroute back to Salem, the officers caught Phil Burch of Cleveland attempting to pass another car at the top of the Millville hill just east of Salem.

Burch was ordered into Mayor George Harroff's court where he was fined $10 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Salem Man Back From Europe And Glad To Be On This Side

"Home, sweet home."

No phrase carries a sweeter meaning in the opinion of Dennison Popa, 30, of Salem, just returned from a two-year stay in Europe.

Home was the dear old United States of America when Popa was in Roumania, packing his trunk and wondering if he ever would reach here.

Today, home is with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Popa of 361 S. Ellsworth ave.

"I was scared, and scared plenty, and I'm not ashamed to admit it," Popa said.

Reads His Bible

"Coming over on the boat from Havre, France, I read my Bible and prayed day and night that the dear Lord would see us home safely," he added.

"Shortly after our ship left port, radio reports informed us of the sinking of 12 boats on nearby waters. I was only one of 162 terrified passengers; probably the most frightened, however."

Popa explains, on the other hand, that he wasn't the only one that prayed during the trip back to the United States, which, incidentally, took 10 days instead of the regular seven. The three extra days were taken up in zig-zagging across the ocean. The skipper of the French liner De Grace, which was armed, used this method to avoid possible mines or submarines.

Now home, Popa doesn't intend to go back to Europe. He'll busy himself as a bartender at Papa Popa's restaurant.

Popa went to Europe and Roumania Thanksgiving day in 1937 and was back here in time for turkey dinner this year.

Went to See Relatives

He went to Roumania to visit relatives near Vintul de Jos, the city where Carol was crowned king.

Popa had a two-year passport but came back before the expiration date. Officials of the Roumanian army threatened to draft him for service, for he was one of the few young men not in the army. All of the eligible males between 21 and 46 had been summoned as Rou-

The aforementioned sum is the amount said to have been paid by the plaintiff to the defendants in cash and in stocks in the purchasse of 102 lots in the Columbiana County Memorial park. The plaintiff now wishes to rescind the contract alleging the defendants failed to live up to an agreement whereby they would resell the first 50 lots purchased within a stipulated period.

Witnesses called by the defense during the afternoon, who recalled transactions involved in the sale of lots to McCausland were Edwin Smith, salesman, of East Liverpool, James Henry, of Youngstown, a salesman, and a Mr. Davis, bookkeeper for the Powell Realty and Development company.

BRITONS RAID SEAPLANE BASE, FIGHT CRUISER

REPORTS DIFFER ON CASUALTIES

Spot Section of Germany's Fleet, Escorting Torpedoed Cruiser

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 15.—British and German warplanes clashed in one of the heaviest air conflicts of the war, it was reported today, as the British raided Nazi seaplane bases and apparently attempted to finish off a crack German cruizer crippled by a torpedo.

The British said losses in the fighting—whether there was more than one combat was not clear — were four German and three British planes.

(Germany claimed 10 of 20 British planes were shot down with only one German plane forced down in a battle north of the Frisian islands.)

Raiding on far-flung missions during last night and early today, the British fliers were reported by the air ministry to hav ebomber Nazi seaplanes at Sylt, island base off the southwest coast of Denmark, and the islands of Borkum and Norderney, island bases off the northeast coast of the Netherlands.

Rival fliers clashed when the British sought to return, and survivors related they saw a section of the German fleet which was reported to be escorting a damaged cruiser.

The Royal Air Force fliers sighted a German battleship, a cruiser, some destroyers and a submarine, they said.

Germans Seek Secrecy

Desperate efforts were made by the Germans to keep secret the fact that the vessels were on the high seas. The British said six successive "waves" of German fighter planes went aloft to try to prevent the Royal Air Force from getting home with the news.

The German warships combined their fire with that of the planes, and even the submarine took part in the gunning before diving for safety, the British fliers related.

Evidence of the blazing battle also came from Oslo, where Reuters news agency reported 60 explosions resembling gunfire were heard from the southwest.

German Strength Increased

German operations in the North sea in this strength have not previously been reported, and the news vied with that from distant Montevideo, where the fate of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee remained of keken public interest.

The absence of previous reports of any mass movement of the German navy in the present war was taken as an indication that the fleet was under orders similar to those of the World war—to stay in snug harbors and not expose itself

"We knew what that sound meant", he said, "and we knew it was serious when the guards of our quarters locked and barred the doors and left to go to their battle stations.

"As the battle progressed most of us realized that a British victory might mean our deaths, but nevertheless there was singing and cheering for the attackers.

"Altogether we counted 17 hits by British shells on the Graf Spee in various encounters that day.

MEMORIAL PLOT IS COMPLETED

Work On Firestone Burial Ground, Columbiana, Finished

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 15—Work that has been in progress since Oct. 1 on the erection of a memorial and landscaping of the Harvey S. Firestone burial plot in the Columbiana cemetery has been completed with the planting of shrubbery.

Alling S. DeForest of Rochester, N. Y., landscape architect who has been a Firestone employe for a number of years, spent considerable time here superintending arrangement of the shrubbery.

The imposing granite memorial, erected by a Boston concern, was completed several weeks ago.

Monument Work of Art

Its base consists of three circular tiers of granite in ascending steps, the circle formed being about 20 feet in diameter.

Within this circle the bodies of both Mr. and Mrs. Firestone are to be laid to rest. Mr. Firestone's body is to be moved from its temporary resting place when the memorial is dedicated in May of 1940.

Resting on the circular base are eight massive, fluted granite columns, 13-feet high, surmounted by another circular tier of granite, which tops off the monument.

The Firestone name does not appear on the monument but the names of both Mr. and Mrs. Firestone will be carved on small head stones to be placed at their graves.

Inscription From John 3:16

The sole inscription on the monument is the New Testament verse, John 3:16, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." It appears on the top granite circle.

Coal Truck Drivers Arrested By Patrol

Drivers of two coal trucks which passed other cars at the crest of hills were arrested yesterday on charges of reckless driving by Salem state highway patrolmen.

Patrolman James White and Robert Jones were forced to drive their patrol car to the edge of the Route 14 highway near Columbiana, when Nick Petti of Cleveland drove his truck over a hill on the wrong side of the road. An accident was narrowly averted, the officers said.

Petti was hailed before Justice S. S. Weaver at Columbiana who fined him $10 and costs.

Enroute back to Salem, the officers caught Phil Burch of Cleveland attempting to pass another car at the top of the Millville hill, just east of Salem.

Burch was ordered into Mayor George Harroff's court where he was fined $10 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Salem Man Back From Europe And Glad To Be On This Side

"Home, sweet home."

No phrase carries a sweeter meaning in the opinion of Dennison Popa, 30, of Salem, just returned from a two-year stay in Europe.

Home was the dear old United States of America when Popa was in Roumania, packing his trunk and wondering if he ever would reach here.

Today, home is with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Popa of 361 S. Ellsworth ave.

"I was scared, and scared plenty, and I'm not ashamed to admit it," Popa said.

Reads His Bible

"Coming over on the boat from Havre, France, I read my Bible and prayed day and night that the dear Lord would see us home safely," he added.

"Shortly after our ship left port, radio reports informed us of the sinking of 12 boats on nearby waters. I was only one of 162 terrified passengers; probably the most frightened, however."

Popa explains, on the other hand, that he wasn't the only one that prayed during the trip back to the United States, which, incidentally, took 10 days instead of the regular seven. The three extra days were taken up in zig-zagging across the ocean. The skipper of the French liner De Grace, which was armed, used this method to avoid possible mines or submarines.

Now home, Popa doesn't intend to go back to Europe. He'll busy himself as a bartender at Papa Popa's restaurant.

Popa went to Europe and Roumania Thanksgiving day in 1937 and was back here in time for turkey dinner this year.

Went to See Relatives

He went to Roumania to visit relatives near Vintul de Jos, the city where Carol was crowned king.

Popa had a two-year passport but came back before the expiration date. Officials of the Roumanian army threatened to draft him for service, for he was one of the few young men not in the army. All of the eligible males between 21 and 46 had been summoned as Rou-

BRITONS RAID SEAPLANE BASE, FIGHT CRUISER

REPORTS DIFFER ON CASUALTIES

Spot Section of Germany's Fleet, Escorting Torpedoed Cruiser

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 15.—British and German warplanes clashed in one of the heaviest air conflicts of the war, it was reported today, as the British raided Nazi seaplane bases and apparently attempted to finish off a crack German cruiser crippled by a torpedo.

The British said losses in the fighting—whether there was more than one combat was not clear — were four German and three British planes.

(Germany claimed 10 of 20 British planes were shot down with only one German plane forced down in a battle north of the Frisian islands.)

Raiding on far-flung missions during last night and early today, the British fliers were reported by the air ministry to hav ebomber Nazi seaplanes at Sylt, island base off the southwest coast of Denmark, and the islands of Borkum and Norderney, island bases off the northeast coast of the Netherlands.

Rival fliers clashed when the British sought to return, and survivors related they saw a section of the German fleet which was reported to be escorting a damaged cruiser.

The Royal Air Force fliers sighted a German battleship, a cruiser, some destroyers and a submarine, they said.

Germans Seek Secrecy

Desperate efforts were made by the Germans to keep secret the fact that the vessels were on the high seas. The British said six successive "waves" of German fighter planes went aloft to try to prevent the Royal Air Force from getting home with the news.

The German warships combined their fire with that of the planes, and even the submarine took part in the gunning before diving for safety, the British fliers related.

Evidence of the blazing battle also came from Oslo, where Reuters news agency reported 60 explosions resembling gunfire were heard from the southwest.

German Strength Increased

German operations in the North sea in this strength have not previously been reported, and the news vied with that from distant Montevideo, where the fate of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee remained of keken public interest.

The absence of previous reports of any mass movement of the German navy in the present war was taken as an indication that the fleet was under orders similar to those of the World war—to stay in snug harbors and not expose itself

Memorial Park Case Adjourns to Monday

LISBON, Dec 15.—The trial of the case of Horace G. McCausland against the Columbiana County Memorial Park association and the Powell Realty Development Co., was adjourned, late Thursday, until 9 a. m. Monday as the defense planned to summon further witnesses in the suit involving $12,026.

The aforementioned sum is the amount said to have been paid by the plaintiff to the defendants in cash and in stocks in the purchasse of 102 lots in the Columbiana County Memorial park. The plaintiff now wishes to rescind the contract alleging the defendants failed to live up to an agreement whereby they would resell the first 50 lots purchased within a stipulated period.

Witnesses called by the defense during the afternoon, who recalled transactions involved in the sale of lots to McCausland were Edwin Smith, salesman, of East Liverpool, James Henry, of Youngstown, a salesman, and a Mr. Davis, bookkeeper for the Powell Realty and Development company.

SHOWDOWN ON DEFEATISM

Sen. Taft and Thomas E. Dewey have hit the New Deal where it hurts by aiming at defeatism. President Roosevelt's quick retort to Sen. Taft's challenge on budget balancing shows that the administration realizes it has been put on the defensive.

The President takes a familiar attitude. The budget can't be balanced, he tells Sen. Taft in effect, and demands specific suggestions. Obligingly, Sen. Taft makes one. Turn a commission of business administrators loose and let them make recommendations.

This is what Ohio did in the Ohio government survey directed by Col. C. O. Sherrill in 1935. The object was to investigate and analyze state administrative functions from the viewpoint of businessmen. The result was to give Ohio a comprehensive report on the state of its public affairs with numerous recommendations for improvement and economy.

Unfortunately, the Ohio government survey's findings were not accepted as a mandate for action. Few of its recommendations ever were carried out. But they are available for any administration that wants to profit by them. There's no such thing as a government so perfect it can't be improved, so static it can't be curtailed to save money.

Yet, in the case of the federal government, which Mr. Roosevelt as a candidate in 1932 said was spending too much money, that is what Mr. Roosevelt as President in 1939 seems to think. The budget can't be balanced; national income must be boosted instead; if it can't be boosted, the alternative is continuous deficits and ultimate collapse.

Sen. Taft says this needn't happen. He is closer to voicing the feeling of the American people than President Roosevelt, who takes the ultra-conservative position that the budget must be left unbalanced because that's the way it is now. If that were true then things would be hopeless.

EVERYBODY CAUGHT SHORT

An oddity of the ideas bubbling just below the surface of the war is the general conviction that all participating governments have been caught short by the event. There is no prospect of gain for any of them.

Commonest notion is that Adolf Hitler committed political suicide by opening hostilities. Alexander Kerenksy, former Russian topnotcher now in the doghouse, is equally sure Joseph Stalin has jerked the props from under his dictatorship by invading Finland.

Prophets of gloom also see ruination ahead for Britain's liberal and limited monarchy and have sighed deeply over assumption of dictatorial powers by France's Premier Daladier. Only the Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland are untouched—so far—by alarmists. No one has predicted downfall of their governments as the result of war, presumably because they have remained neutral. The Balkan states, as always, are shaky and will fall whichever way they are pushed.

No matter how the war comes out, in other words, it's a reasonable guess that all the governments engaged in it are bound to fall or be shaken to their foundations, which may be too pessimistic but indicates a widespread awareness that war is an outmoded and wholly futile instrument of national policy.

GESTURE THAT FLOPPED

From a spectator's point of view, the Bremen's safe return to Germany via Murmansk is one of the few dramatic incidents produced by the war. It has suspense, mystery and bravery.

Now, unexpectedly, it has a goat—the British admiralty, which announced the Bremen could have been torpedoed if a British submarine had been permitted to do the job without giving advance notice.

The British public doesn't take kindly to the admiralty's gesture of high ethics. It thinks the Bremen should have been torpedoed without hesitation if it was within range.

Perhaps it never was within range. Perhaps the admiralty made up the explanation to cover its embarrassment over the fact the Bremen ran the British blockade without untoward incident.

Much better for propaganda purposes would have been a boast that the Bremen had been sent to the bottom without trace, which would have put the enemy to the inconvenience of proving that it was still afloat.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Appearance of nominations for the best this and that of the year, an offshoot of the urge to rehash that's experienced anew each December, raises a question. How far can this sort of thing go?

After all, picking the best horse of the year, the best swimmer, the best golfer, the best football player, the best baseball player, the best song, the best play, the best movie, the best book, the best tennis player, the best radio program, the best dressed man and the best dressed woman is only the beginning.

There's a theoretical best in every field of endeavor But if the best lunch check fumbler, the best publicity hound, the best phoney, the best bathroom tenor, the best toe trampler, the best chisler, the best elbow jabber and the best newspaper musser crowd in for their annual awards too, the whole best idea will be as silly as all-American football teams. It's almost as silly already.

There has never been anything more offensive than Stalin's defensive war.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, December 16

STEADY progress of an enduring rather than spectacular character may be seen from this day's transits. There is augury of promotion and favors from those in authority, who may be ready to further practical projects, steadfastness and hard work. It would be well to be cautious in handling all manner of writings and papers, as these are under adverse rule.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a year of steady gain, with promotion and other benefices from those in high places. They will be found ready to recognize application, constructive ability and hard work. In all writings be careful in affixing the signature, lest there be room for misconstruction or fraudulent intent.

A child born on this day may be steady, persistent and ambitious. It should stand in the good graces of superiors, employers and others in influential position.

GIVING AND GETTING

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15.—Growth of the relief problem in recent years has caused large urban centers to clamor for a greater return of the money which their citizens pay out in state taxes.

For instance, Frank G. Jones, Cleveland relief commissioner, asserted this week that Cleveland's future relief emergencies could be prevented if the city were permitted to spend more of its own money.

"Every year," he said, "Cleveland willingly and uncomplainingly pays into the state treasury millions of dollars collected here. This is largely distributed into rural centers, and Cleveland gets back merely a fragment of what it pays out."

So, William S. Evatt, state tax commissioner, went into the records to determine if the large urban centers were being deprived unjustly of their fair share of state-collected taxes. He used Cuyahoga county as an example.

Evatt reported that with the exception of state aid for schools and old age pensions, Cuyahoga county today receives back a greater proportion of taxes than it pays in.

He found that Cuyahoga county, which has about 18 per cent of the state's population (1930 census), contributes 22.3 per cent of the state's tax revenue. Excluding school aid and pensions, it receives an average of 26.9 per cent of the state subsidies. Including these two items, it gets back 17.73 per cent.

The fact that Cuyahoga's return in school aid and pensions averages less than its contributions to the state treasury inures to its benefit, Commissioner Evatt said.

He explained that a large portion of the county's population is educated in the rural counties. After receiving their education at the expense of other counties, they move into Cleveland and contribute to the county's economic welfare, he added.

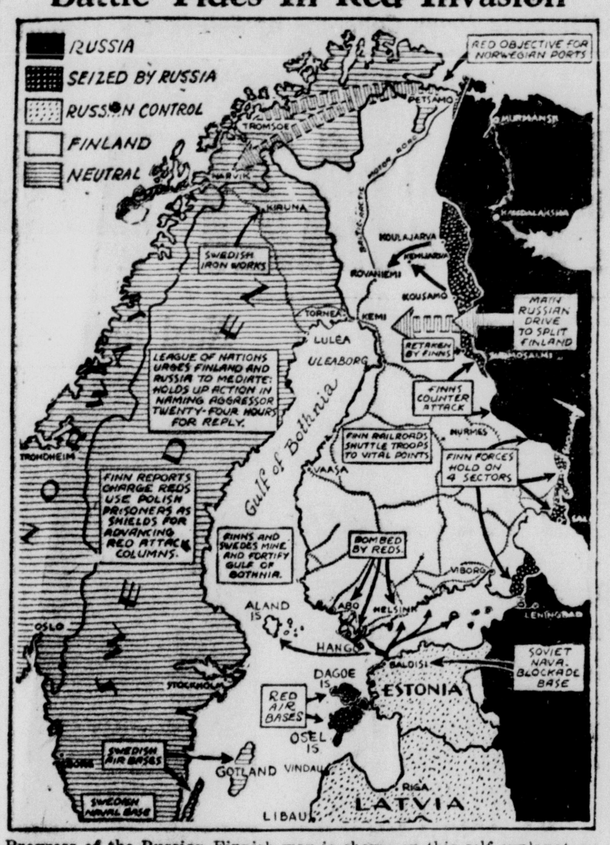

"It is also, I believe, an incontrovertible fact that Cuyahoga county is benefited rather than harmed by the relatively small proportion of money going into the county for the aged indigent," Evatt said. "This element of the population is certainly of no economic benefit to the county or city."

Evatt took the position that any comparison of a county's return of revenues with the amount of taxes it pays was "absurd and ridiculous on its face."

"Because," he explained, "if in government we were to pay back in governmental subsidy or in benefits to our taxpayers in proportion to the amount of taxes they pay, God help the poor man.

"What is true for the individual is true for a collection of individuals. In government finance, we are constantly taxing those who are able to be taxed and returning a substantial disproportionate amount of those revenues to those unable to be taxed."

We're Winning T.B. War, Dr. Clendening Asserts

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

GENIUSES ARE particularly liable to have tuberculosis. Perhaps their genius is due more to the product of the bacillus than to innate ability. The fact of their susceptibility, however, has allowed us to obtain historical records which show clearly the way in which tuberculosis was treated in other days.

John Keats died about 120 years ago. He was a medical student and was licensed to practice medicine. He should have known the early symptoms and been able to make his own diagnosis. His mother died when he was 15 years old, and while we have very meager records of her, it is safe to assume that so early a death meant tuberculosis and that she was the source of his infection.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

His health began to break down in 1816. He sought relief in various climates but, instead of resting, he thought that walking and strenuous exercise would restore his health. This, of course, is entirely contrary to our modern practice, in which rest is the first element in treatment. His younger brother developed consumption and John Keats nursed him for a while, a most unwholesome thing for him to have done. Apparently neither he nor anyone else recognized the similarity of his own symptoms and those of his brother.

Friend Told Story

His friend, Charles Brown, told the story that one night Keats came to his house in a pitiable state, resembling violent intoxication. He had caught a chill riding outside a stage coach. Brown put him to bed. As he got between the cold sheets he coughed and then said: "Bring me a candle, I must see that blood." He gazed for some moments at the stain and said, "I know the color—it is arterial blood. I must die." But even with that symptom a doctor reassured him and told him there was nothing the matter.

In 1818 he went on a walking tour in Scotland. The fatigue and hardships proved too great a strain for him. Here, for the first time, an Inverness doctor made the diagnosis.

In 1820 it was evident to everyone that he was dying. As a last hope he set out on a journey for Naples, but died in Rome in February, 1821. The idea of sending so sick a man on a long, arduous journey of that kind was little less than cruelty to animals.

Different Today

Today every detail of the management of his case would be different. In the first place, the diagnosis would be made early. Treatment begun in an early stage is far more hopeful than late treatment. Secondly, he would be put to bed and not allowed to associate with other tuberculosis patients, unless, at least, every precaution were taken to prevent cross infection. It is probable that his lung would have been collapsed and the tuberculin toxine squeezed out of it. Perhaps in that case we would never have had the "Ode to a Grecian Urn."

With the application of modern forms of treatment, we feel that the conquest of tuberculosis is quite possible.

Questions and Answers

O. H. T.: "What is your opinion of the short wave machine treatment of rheumatism and arthritis?"

Answer: It is an extremely efficient form of heat, and heat is valuable in all cases of arthritis.

Fitness First Test In Job Selections

A person's fitness to perform certain work is the chief consideration of the Ohio State Employment Service when referring workers to employers for prospective jobs, Manager Johnston of the Salem employment center announced today.

It is the policy of the Ohio State Employment Service division of the bureau of unemployment compensation to refer only those persons whose qualifications meet with the requirements of the prospective employer.

Persons on relief are not given preference. The applicant's need for a job can not be considered unless he is fit to perform the work. By finding jobs for applicants on a basis of their qualifications rather than need, greater service can be rendered a community. This policy forestalls the possibility of the applicant going on relief rolls.

Manager Johnston said the "job center" has consistently attempted to maintain its leadership in this community by cooperating with other agencies. It tries to obtain places in private industry for men and women best qualified for the jobs.

SHOWDOWN ON DEFEATISM

Sen. Taft and Thomas E. Dewey have hit the New Deal where it hurts by aiming at defeatism. President Roosevelt's quick retort to Sen. Taft's challenge on budget balancing shows that the administration realizes it has been put on the defensive.

The President takes a familiar attitude. The budget can't be balanced, he tells Sen. Taft in effect, and demands specific suggestions. Obligingly, Sen. Taft makes one. Turn a commission of business administrators loose and let them make recommendations.

This is what Ohio did in the Ohio government survey directed by Col. C. O. Sherrill in 1935. The object was to investigate and analyze state administrative functions from the viewpoint of businessmen. The result was to give Ohio a comprehensive report on the state of its public affairs with numerous recommendations for improvement and economy.

Unfortunately, the Ohio government survey's findings were not accepted as a mandate for action. Few of its recommendations ever were carried out. But they are available for any administration that wants to profit by them. There's no such thing as a government so perfect it can't be improved, so static it can't be curtailed to save money.

Yet, in the case of the federal government, which Mr. Roosevelt as a candidate in 1932 said was spending too much money, that is what Mr. Roosevelt as President in 1939 seems to think. The budget can't be balanced; national income must be boosted instead; if it can't be boosted, the alternative is continuous deficits and ultimate collapse.

Sen. Taft says this needn't happen. He is closer to voicing the feeling of the American people than President Roosevelt, who takes the ultra-conservative position that the budget must be left unbalanced because that's the way it is now. If that were true then things would be hopeless.

EVERYBODY CAUGHT SHORT

An oddity of the ideas bubbling just below the surface of the war is the general conviction that all participating governments have been caught short by the event. There is no prospect of gain for any of them.

Commonest notion is that Adolf Hitler committed political suicide by opening hostilities. Alexander Kerensky, former Russian topnotcher now in the doghouse, is equally sure Joseph Stalin has jerked the props from under his dictatorship by invading Finland.

Prophets of gloom also see ruination ahead for Britain's liberal and limited monarchy and have sighed deeply over assumption of dictatorial powers by France's Premier Daladier. Only the Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland are untouched—so far—by alarmists. No one has predicted downfall of their governments as the result of war, presumably because they have remained neutral. The Balkan states, as always, are shaky and will fall whichever way they are pushed.

No matter how the war comes out, in other words, it's a reasonable guess that all the governments engaged in it are bound to fall or be shaken to their foundations, which may be too pessimistic but indicates a widespread awareness that war is an outmoded and wholly futile instrument of national policy.

GESTURE THAT FLOPPED

From a spectator's point of view, the Bremen's safe return to Germany via Murmansk is one of the few dramatic incidents produced by the war. It has suspense, mystery and bravery.

Now, unexpectedly, it has a goat—the British admiralty, which announced the Bremen could have been torpedoed if a British submarine had been permitted to do the job without giving advance notice.

The British public doesn't take kindly to the admiralty's gesture of high ethics. It thinks the Bremen should have been torpedoed without hesitation if it was within range.

Perhaps it never was within range. Perhaps the admiralty made up the explanation to cover its embarrassment over the fact the Bremen ran the British blockade without untoward incident.

Much better for propaganda purposes would have been a boast that the Bremen had been sent to the bottom without trace, which would have put the enemy to the inconvenience of proving that it was still afloat.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Appearance of nominations for the best this and that of the year, an offshoot of the urge to rehash that's experienced anew each December, raises a question. How far can this sort of thing go?

After all, picking the best horse of the year, the best swimmer, the best golfer, the best football player, the best baseball player, the best song, the best play, the best movie, the best book, the best tennis player, the best radio program, the best dressed man and the best dressed woman is only the beginning.

There's a theoretical best in every field of endeavor But if the best lunch check fumbler, the best publicity hound, the best phoney, the best bathroom tenor, the best toe trampler, the best chisler, the best elbow jabber and the best newspaper musser crowd in for their annual awards too, the whole best idea will be as silly as all-American football teams. It's almost as silly already.

There has never been anything more offensive than Stalin's defensive war.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, December 16

STEADY progress of an enduring rather than spectacular character may be seen from this day's transits. There is augury of promotion and favors from those in authority, who may be ready to further practical projects, steadfastness and hard work. It would be well to be cautious in handling all manner of writings and papers, as these are under adverse rule.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a year of steady gain, with promotion and other benefices from those in high places. They will be found ready to recognize application, constructive ability and hard work. In all writings be careful in affixing the signature, lest there be room for misconstruction or fraudulent intent.

A child born on this day may be steady, persistent and ambitious. It should stand in the good graces of superiors, employers and others in influential position.

GIVING AND GETTING

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15.—Growth of the relief problem in recent years has caused large urban centers to clamor for a greater return of the money which their citizens pay out in state taxes.

For instance, Frank G. Jones, Cleveland relief commissioner, asserted this week that Cleveland's future relief emergencies could be prevented if the city were permitted to spend more of its own money.

"Every year," he said, "Cleveland willingly and uncomplainingly pays into the state treasury millions of dollars collected here. This is largely distributed into rural centers, and Cleveland gets back merely a fragment of what it pays out."

So, William S. Evatt, state tax commissioner, went into the records to determine if the large urban centers were being deprived unjustly of their fair share of state-collected taxes. He used Cuyahoga county as an example.

Evatt reported that with the exception of state aid for schools and old age pensions, Cuyahoga county today receives back a greater proportion of taxes than it pays in.

He found that Cuyahoga county, which has about 18 per cent of the state's population (1930 census), contributes 22.3 per cent of the state's tax revenue. Excluding school aid and pensions, it receives an average of 26.9 per cent of the state subsidies. Including these two items, it gets back 17.73 per cent.

The fact that Cuyahoga's return in school aid and pensions averages less than its contributions to the state treasury inures to its benefit, Commissioner Evatt said.

He explained that a large portion of the county's population is educated in the rural counties. After receiving their education at the expense of other counties, they move into Cleveland and contribute to the county's economic welfare, he added.

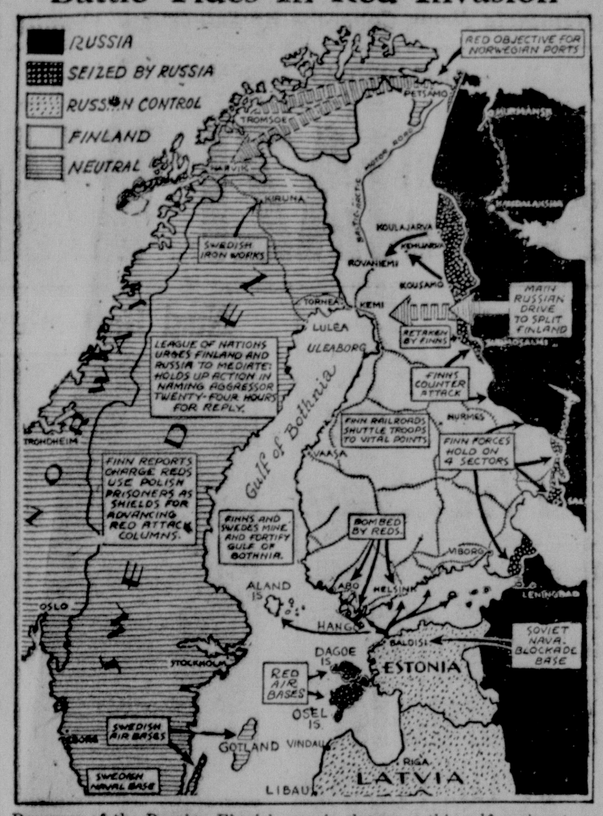

"It is also, I believe, an incontrovertible fact that Cuyahoga county is benefited rather than harmed by the relatively small proportion of money going into the county for the aged indigent," Evatt said. "This element of the population is certainly of no economic benefit to the county or city."

Evatt took the position that any comparison of a county's return of revenues with the amount of taxes it pays was "absurd and ridiculous on its face."

"Because," he explained, "if in government we were to pay back in governmental subsidy or in benefits to our taxpayers in proportion to the amount of taxes they pay, God help the poor man.

"What is true for the individual is true for a collection of individuals. In government finance, we are constantly taxing those who are able to be taxed and returning a substantial disproportionate amount of those revenues to those unable to be taxed."

Progress of the Russian-Finnish war is shown on this self-explanatory map. The territory seized by the Red invaders has cost the Soviet a terrific toll in dead and wounded as the Finns continue to fight desperately in the face of overwhelming odds.

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

GENIUSES ARE particularly liable to have tuberculosis. Perhaps their genius is due more to the product of the bacillus than to innate ability. The fact of their susceptibility, however, has allowed us to obtain historical records which show clearly the way in which tuberculosis was treated in other days.

John Keats died about 120 years ago. He was a medical student and was licensed to practice medicine. He should have known the early symptoms and been able to make his own diagnosis. His mother died when he was 15 years old, and while we have very meager records of her, it is safe to assume that sc early a death meant tuberculosis and that she was the source of his infection.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

His health began to break down in 1816. He sought relief in various climates but, instead of resting, he thought that walking and strenuous exercise would restore his health. This, of course, is entirely contrary to our modern practice, in which rest is the first element in treatment. His younger brother developed consumption and John Keats nursed him for a while, a most unwholesome thing for him to have done. Apparently neither he nor anyone else recognized the similarity of his own symptoms and those of his brother.

Friend Told Story

His friend, Charles Brown, told the story that one night Keats came to his house in a pitiable state, resembling violent intoxication. He had caught a chill riding outside a stage coach. Brown put him to bed. As he got between the cold sheets he coughed and then said: "Bring me a candle, I must see that blood." He gazed for some moments at the stain and said, "I know the color—it is arterial blood. I must die." But even with that symptom a doctor reassured him and told him there was nothing the matter.

In 1818 he went on a walking tour in Scotland. The fatigue and hardships proved too great a strain for him. Here, for the first time, an Inverness doctor made the diagnosis.

In 1820 it was evident to everyone that he was dying. As a last hope he set out on a journey for Naples, but died in Rome in February, 1821. The idea of sending so sick a man on a long, arduous journey of that kind was little less than cruelty to animals.

Different Today

Today every detail of the management of his case would be different. In the first place, the diagnosis would be made early. Treatment begun in an early stage is far more hopeful than late treatment. Secondly, he would be put to bed and not allowed to associate with other tuberculosis patients, unless, at least, every precaution were taken to prevent cross infection. It is probable that his lung would have been collapsed and the tuberculin toxine squeezed out of it. Perhaps in that case we would never have had the "Ode to a Grecian Urn."

With the application of modern forms of treatment, we feel that the conquest of tuberculosis is quite possible.

Questions and Answers

O. H. T.: "What is your opinion of the short wave machine treatment of rheumatism and arthritis?"

Answer: It is an extremely efficient form of heat, and heat is valuable in all cases of arthritis.

Fitness First Test In Job Selections

A person's fitness to perform certain work is the chief consideration of the Ohio State Employment Service when referring workers to employers for prospective jobs, Manager Johnston of the Salem employment center announced today.

It is the policy of the Ohio State Employment Service division of the bureau of unemployment compensation to refer only those persons whose qualifications meet with the requirements of the prospective employer.

Persons on relief are not given preference. The applicant's need for a job can not be considered unless he is fit to perform the work. By finding jobs for applicants on a basis of their qualifications rather than need, greater service can be rendered a community. This policy forestalls the possibility of the applicant going on relief rolls.

Manager Johnston said the "job center" has consistently attempted to maintain its leadership in this community by cooperating with other agencies. It tries to obtain places in private industry for men and women best qualified for the jobs.

POSSESS LANE OF YULE TREE

Fresno, Cal., Boulevard Again Decorated With Lights

FRESNO, Cal. — The nationally famous "Christmas Tree Lane" in the Fig Garden district of Fresno will be lighted tonight (Dec. 16). The "lane" will be illuminated nightly until Jan. 1.

An estimated 350 000 persons will travel the one and one-half miles of tree-lined boulevard which will be made brilliant by multi-colored Yuletide decorations.

The late Mrs. W. P. Winning lighted the first tree along the boulevard in 1920. Other residents of the Fig Garden area followed the lead of Mrs. Winning and illuminated their outdoor trees, and more trees were planted as the residential district developed. In 1928, Mrs. C. A. Liddel, a resident of the area, conceived the idea of an illuminated "Christmas Tree Lane", which today is the longest in the world.

More than 20,000 vari-colored globes will decorate the 200-year-old Deodar trees which line the boulevard.

Lighted themes symbolistic of the Yuletide spirit will decorate the houses in the Fig Garden area. Lighted and outlined reindeer with Santa Claus at the reins will appear above roof-tops. Featured will be an illuminated shrine depicting the Nativity.

Today the enterprise is sponsored by the Fig Gardens Men's and Women's clubs. The project is planned for its aesthetic appeal and not for monetary profit.

Tada Reveals Plans To St. Louis Star-Times Correspondent

PEIPING, China.—Lieut. Gen. Hayao Tada, supreme Japanese army commander in North China, outlined four objectives in connection with future military operations, in an interview with Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis Star-Times writer. His interview was the first granted to a newspaperman since taking the high command.

Gen. Tada's stated objectives are:

Elimination by the Japanese army of aerial bombings of Chinese civilian populations in unfortified towns.

Instructions (already given) to all Japanese soldiers that henceforth any misconduct will result in punishments from imprisonment to death.

Orders to soldiers to conduct themselves humbly and not as representatives of a conquering power.

Restoration of the Chinese farmer to the soil, and the soil to the farmer; new standards of living for farm families and immediate alleviation of suffering in poverty-stricken districts.

The interview was arranged by Col. Hitoshi Hamada, chief of the press section of the North China headquarters of the Imperial Japanese army, and his assistant, Lieut. Masaru Takata. Lieut. Takata acted as interpreter.

To Pacify China

In the course of an exchange of questions and answers, Gen. Tada said the Japanese expeditionary forces will proceed with their original mission to pacify China. The army will assume responsibility for the maintenance of peace and order, but all political, cultural and economic matters, excepting affairs of Chinese farmers, will continue to be handled by the China Affairs Board (which meets regularly in Tokyo).

"My greatest concern today is the Chinese farmer," said Gen. Tada. "He constitutes 90 per cent of China's 400,000,000 and nowhere else on earth are to be found such miserable people. They live in poverty and squalor and millions die of starvation.

"It is our plan to restore the farmer to the soil, and the soil to the farmer, and to enable each family to earn enough to raise the standards of living."

"Isn't it rather difficult for the average Chinese to understand such high purposes when your soldiers chase him through the rice fields and keep him one jump ahead of a bayonet in his back?"

Not Warring on People

Gen. Tada smiled broadly and said:

"Japan has been vividly pictured in America as making war against these unfortunate people. But it is not true. We are warring against bandits, war lords and Communists.

"The fundamental purpose of Japan's armed action in China is to prevent European domination of East Asia and to make East Asia safe for East Asiatics.

"It is true that when our troops capture a city, a town, or a village, there are 'mopping up' operations. These are not pleasant, but necessary. We must subdue, and sometimes liquidate, those who oppose our aims and ideals."

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Mayor L. B. Owens and members of the city police force are beginning to regret the recently enacted city anti-noise ordinance. The public is keeping the officials awake all hours of the night complaining about automobile horns, barking dogs, radios and even frogs in a lily pond.

Behind the Scenes with German Air Raiders

News of the Day Newsreel

INDIAN CULTURE DATED EARLIER

Traces of Pre-Historic Tribes Found Along Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS—Traces of a prehistoric race of Indians, the oldest yet found in the Mississippi Valley, have been uncovered on the banks of Lake Pontchartrain by Prof. J. A. Ford of Louisiana State University and a WPA survey.

The new culture has been named the Tchefuncta horizon. This culture, Prof. Ford said, antedates the Marksville culture which previously was the oldest civilization established in the Mississippi Valley—about 1,200 years old.

"In ancient times, American Indians living along the Gulf coast apparently subsisted upon shell fish and small mammals, birds and fish," Prof. Ford said. "Our observations indicate that they camped on beaches near their principal food supply. Gradually the mussel shells and refuse from their camps accumulated into a big dump heap. From this we obtained fragments of pottery and implements which they used."

Prof. Ford said the Tchefuncta culture seemed closely related to cultures found in Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia, and apparently was distantly related to cultures in the northeastern United States.

"They had decorated pottery vessels, often with four added legs," the professor said. "They hunted with the antler-tipped throwing board or atlatl, or spear. These spears were fitted with chipped flint projectile points, or hollow bone points made from the long bones of large birds or small animals.

"They used bone fishhooks, shell gouges, bone gouges and chisels, and notched fish line sinkers," he continued. "They used large conch shell drinking cups, and smoked clay tubular pipes which often had the stem slightly flattened to form a mouth piece."

Brundidge, St. Louis Star-Times writer. His interview was the first granted to a newspaperman since taking the high command.

Gen. Tada's stated objectives are:

Elimination by the Japanese army of aerial bombings of Chinese civilian populations in unfortified towns.

Instructions (already given) to all Japanese soldiers that henceforth any misconduct will result in punishments from imprisonment to death.

Orders to soldiers to conduct themselves humbly and not as representatives of a conquering power.

Restoration of the Chinese farmer to the soil, and the soil to the farmer; new standards of living for farm families and immediate alleviation of suffering in poverty-stricken districts.

The interview was arranged by Col. Hitoshi Hamada, chief of the press section of the North China headquarters of the Imperial Japanese army, and his assistant, Lieut. Masaru Takata. Lieut. Takata acted as interpreter.

To Pacify China

In the course of an exchange of questions and answers, Gen. Tada said the Japanese expeditionary forces will proceed with their original mission to pacify China. The army will assume responsibility for the maintenance of peace and order, but all political, cultural and economic matters, excepting affairs of Chinese farmers, will continue to be handled by the China Affairs Board (which meets regularly in Tokyo).

"My greatest concern today is the Chinese farmer," said Gen. Tada. "He constitutes 90 per cent of China's 400,000,000 and nowhere else on earth are to be found such miserable people. They live in poverty and squalor and millions die of starvation.

"It is our plan to restore the farmer to the soil, and the soil to the farmer, and to enable each family to earn enough to raise the standards of living."

"Isn't it rather difficult for the average Chinese to understand such high purposes when your soldiers chase him through the rice fields and keep him one jump ahead of a bayonet in his back?"

Not Warring on People

Gen. Tada smiled broadly and said:

"Japan has been vividly pictured in America as making war against these unfortunate people. But it is not true. We are warring against bandits, war lords and Communists.

"The fundamental purpose of Japan's armed action in China is to prevent European domination of East Asia and to make East Asia safe for East Asiatics.

"It is true that when our troops capture a city, a town, or a village, there are 'mopping up' operations. These are not pleasant, but necessary. We must subdue, and sometimes liquidate, those who oppose our aims and ideals."

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Mayor L. B. Owens and members of the city police force are beginning to regret the recently enacted city anti-noise ordinance. The public is keeping the officials awake all hours of the night complaining about automobile horns, barking dogs, radios and even frogs in a lily pond.

Behind the Scenes with German Air Raiders

In these pictures the cameraman takes you on a German bombing raid over the North Sea. Top left, a Nazi soldier nonchalantly carries one of the huge bombs to be used in the raid to its rack on the plane. Top right, officers enter one of the warplanes through the bomb bay. Lower left, made from one of the planes in the squadron, the angels of death wing their way toward England. Lower right, a section of the North Sea is seen from the plane's bomb bay. The four dots on the water are ships, giving an idea of how small a target a vessel presents to a bomber. These photos are among the first permitted at German bases from which trans-Channel raids have originated.

INDIAN CULTURE DATED EARLIER

Traces of Pre-Historic Tribes Found Along Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS—Traces of a prehistoric race of Indians, the oldest yet found in the Mississippi Valley, have been uncovered on the banks of Lake Pontchartrain by Prof. J. A. Ford of Louisiana State University and a WPA survey.

The new culture has been named the Tchefuncta horizon. This culture, Prof. Ford said, antedates the Marksville culture which previously was the oldest civilization established in the Mississippi Valley—about 1,200 years old.

"In ancient times, American Indians living along the Gulf coast apparently subsisted upon shell fish and small mammals, birds and fish," Prof. Ford said. "Our observations indicate that they camped on beaches near their principal food supply. Gradually the mussel shells and refuse from their camps accumulated into a big dump heap. From this we obtained fragments of pottery and implements which they used."

Prof. Ford said the Tchefuncta culture seemed closely related to cultures found in Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia, and apparently was distantly related to cultures in the northeastern United States.

"They had decorated pottery vessels, often with four added legs," the professor said. "They hunted with the antler-tipped throwing board or atlatl, or spear. These spears were fitted with chipped flint projectile points, or hollow bone points made from the long bones of large birds or small animals.

"They used bone fishbooks, shell gouges, bone gouges and chisels, and notched fish line sinkers," he continued. "They used large conch shell drinking cups, and smoked clay tubular pipes which often had the stem slightly flattened to form a mouth piece."

MEMORIAL PLOT IS COMPLETED

Work On Firestone Burial Ground, Columbiana, Finished

The Boston firm which erected the monument has the contract to move Mr. Firestone's body next spring. Temporary burial was made in February, 1938, in the plot of Mr. Firestone's father, Benjamin Firestone, in Columbiana cemetery.

The Harvey S. Firestone plot landscaping which has just been completed, is circular in form. Radiating from the monument, three to the north and three to the south, are burial plots for the six Firestone children with ample burial room for their children, also, if desired. Evergreen hedges as part of the landscaping plan surround and partly divide the individual plots.

At Back of Memorial

The shrubbery scheme backs up the memorial on the west with two groups of red pine, 15 to 16 feet high, the largest bushes in the plan. A tupelo tree is set in each of the six burial subdivisions which are partly enclosed with Japanese yew hedge. The six subdivisions broaden with the widening area toward the outer circumference of the plot, terminating in an ample circular form which displays the beauty of the hedge.

Back of the enclosing hedge are planted white and red flowers, dogwoods and flowering crab apple trees. Among the shrubs are those selected not only for flowering qualities but for the colorful autumn berries.

Roses have been used to add to the flower display. An abundance of small-leaved English ivy and the evergreen pachysandra are utilized for ground covering among the shrubs.

The landscaping and shrubbery planting was done by a force of men from the Firestone farms, east of here, under the direction of Mr. DeForest.

Landscaping of the new 13-acre addition to the cemetery, which embraces the Firestone plot, is not yet completed. The plantings will be chiefly of varieties that will require a degree of maturity to bring out their beauty.

Wall Near Completion

The new wall of the hand-pressed brick along the cemetery front of nearly 1,000 feet is nearing completion. It includes three entrances with white marble trimmings, two for pedestrians and one for both pedestrians and vehicles. A new concrete sidewalk is being laid along the entire front.

DeForest was also the landscape architect for Firestone park, situated across the street from the cemetery. A program to secure additional facilities for the park in 1940 is already under way. Improvements planned include a new pavilion, 30 by 80 feet, designed especially as a banquet hall for larger gatherings than can be accommodated in the smaller pavilions.

DeForest was also the landscape architect for Firestone park, situated across the street from the cemetery. A program to secure additional facilities for the park in 1940 is already under way. Improvements planned include a new pavilion, 30 by 80 feet, designed especially as a banquet hall for larger gatherings than can be accommodated in the smaller pavilions.

Merchant shipping continued to suffer wartime losses yesterday and last night.

The 731-ton Belgian steam Yvonne was reported to have escaped damage when attacked Dec. 5 by a German plane.

The 4,158-ton British steamer Stanwood was dissclosed to have sunk Sunday in Falmouth harbor while a fire was being fought in her hold.

GLAD HE'S BACK FROM WAR ZONE

Salem Man tells of treacherous Crossing; Prays Every Night

mania bolstered its defenses.

However, Popa was safe as long as his passport held out, and he knew it.

He reported that the Roumanian army was constantly watching its borders toward Russia, fearful of a Russian invasion. During his stay in Roumania he saw no disorders and, much in contrast to people in the United States, he read only meager reports of war developments.

Back home, he discovered his dad knew more of what was going on in Europe than he, who had been in the center of things, knew.

Enroute to Havre, Popa spent two days in Paris, which was a complete "black-out" at night.

Feared Nazi Bombs

"I was scared there," he commented; "thought maybe the Germans would drop some bombs." Sandbags were at every building and store windows were camouflaged. "I once asked some British soldiers in Paris where they were going and they only shrugged their shoulders and said they didn't know."

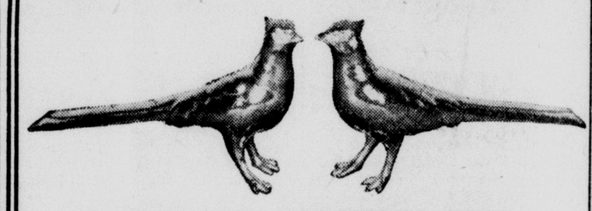

Popa said the Roumanian army was forced to take practically all the horses, and even steers, from the citizens for army transportation uses.

The Salem man had two companions on the journey homeward. One was a youth, Mike Florea, of Newark, O., who went to Europe at the age of seven. He had served six months in the Roumanian army before his father won his release through the efforts of the state department in Washington, D. C.

The other companion was a lad who went to Roumania when two years old and was now coming back to America.

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—The average motorist in New South Wales makes his car do for 9¾ years and thereby, believes the department of road transport, increases accidents. Observation suggests that the age of the vehicles explains what is the major source of accidents—the number of slow drivers on the road.

DANUBE TRADE SEEN GROWING

Transfer Deemed Likely Of Barge Fleets From Rhine

LONDON — Confronted with an Allied blockade which is slowly tightening, it is reported that Germany is turning increasingly toward the Danube as a means of obtaining supplies and shipping exports.

The Allied blockade has cut Germany off from all but one of the seven seas. The exception is the Baltic through which Germany is reportedly obtaining so far only Russian timber and Swedish iron ore. Two-thirds of the latter have to be shipped around Norway's Atlantic coast.

Russia ships almost all of its oil, wheat, fodder, and manganese ore exports from Black Sea ports, wherefore increased German trade with the south east and Russia depends upon an extension of Danube shipping.

Technical Curbs Faced

There are, however, technical difficulties in the way of unlimited expansion, it is pointed out here. First, below Vienna the Danube rushes downhill with increasing force and upriver traffic is only practicable by tug convoys. Second, no vessel larger than 600 tons can pass the Iron Gate and in summer and autumn the water is often too low even for such ships while in winter the lower reaches, sometimes as far as Vienna, are closed by ice. Third, the three German controlled companies Donau Dampfschiffahrts Gesellschaft, Bayrische Lloyd and Czech S D P, own together between 350,000 and 400,000 tons of tugs, barges and lighters. In addition there are a further 375,000 tons of similar vessels sailing under Hungarian, Roumanian, and Jugoslav flags, as well as some British, Dutch, and French river tankers. If all were available to Germany, it is said that only half its pre-war trade could be carried by river.

Rhine Shipping Hard Hit

It is believed here that Germany intends to transfer tugs and barges from the Rhine, where shipping is almost paralyzed, but the Rhine-Maine-Danube canal will need at least another year's labor before transfer will be possible.

This concentration on the Danube as a means of evading the blockade is not expected to provide an immediate solution to Germany's dilemma, despite starting upriver traffic at Turnu Severin, above the Iron Gate, with larger Roumanian tugs plying the lower part of the river from the Black Sea coast.

How To Make Xmas Tree Fire Proof

The following method for fireproofing the Christmas tree, devised by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is recommended by the American Red Cross:

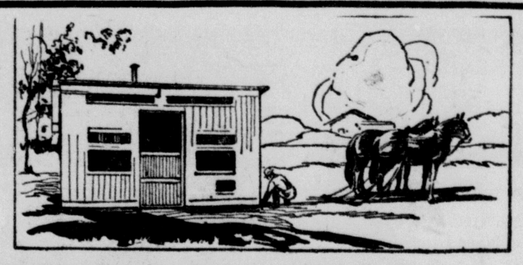

Cut the trunk at an angle or in a "V" shape. Then weigh the tree and divide the weight by four. This will give you the weight of the amonium sulfate needed. Dissolve the amonium sulfate in water, using one and one-half pints of water to the pound. Place the solution in a tin pail, glass jar or earthen crock.

A narrow-mouth container is best, as it lessens evaporation. In a cool place, set the tree in the solution, leaving it there a sufficient length of time for absorption has taken place, the danger of combustibility is at a minimum. Inflammable decorations may be treated with the solution.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Gov. Frank M. Dixon of Alabama is an ardent hunter. When the governor can't get away to bag doves, quail, ducks or squirrels, he goes over to the army's tactical school at Maxwell Field here and shoots at skeets.

Move That Brooder House

Leaving the brooder house in the same spot until the soil is sour and full of germs and worms is certainly inviting trouble. Your hatcheryman can protect your chicks against diseases that are transmitted through the eggs—but it is strictly up to you to protect them against external germs and parasites. Clean that brooder house as clean as your kitchen—use lye in hot water to cook the germs—and move it, brother, move it.

Schooner Departs From Gloucester On World Voyage

(By International News Service)

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—Gloucester will have its next view of the former pilot vessel Yankee on April 29, 1941.

On that date, at 2 p. m. sharp, according to the Yankee's skipper, Capt. Irving Johnson, the schooner will return to its berth at Rocky Neck, concluding a 36,000-mile 18-month trip around the world.

Including his wife, Mrs. Electa Search Johnson, and his two sons, Robert Parkin Johnson, born Oct. 17, 1939, and Arthur Cook Johnson three years and eight months old, Captain Johnson has shipped a crew of 19.

Six tons of food and provisions, valued at $2,000, are aboard. It was estimated that before the Yankee returns the party will have eaten 30 tons of food, with an approximate value of $10,000.

The trip is Captain Johnson's third round-the-world cruise in the Yankee, which he purchased in Hamburg early in 1933. The Yankee, originally known as the "Loodschooner 4," was a Dutch pilot boat used in the North Sea.

Most of the present trip, according to Captain Johnson, will be below the equator. He believes that in this area he will avoid contact with vessels of belligerent nations in the present European war.

DANUBE TRADE SEEN GROWING

Transfer Deemed Likely Of Barge Fleets From Rhine

LONDON — Confronted with an Allied blockade which is slowly tightening, it is reported that Germany is turning increasingly toward the Danube as a means of obtaining supplies and shipping exports.

The Allied blockade has cut Germany off from all but one of the seven seas. The exception is the Baltic through which Germany is reportedly obtaining so far only Russian timber and Swedish iron ore. Two-thirds of the latter have to be shipped around Norway's Atlantic coast.

Russia ships almost all of its oil, wheat, fodder, and manganese ore exports from Black Sea ports, wherefore increased German trade with the south east and Russia depends upon an extension of Danube shipping.

Technical Curbs Faced

There are, however, technical difficulties in the way of unlimited expansion, it is pointed out here. First, below Vienna the Danube rushes downhill with increasing force and upriver traffic is only practicable by tug convoys. Second, no vessel larger than 600 tons can pass the Iron Gate and in summer and autumn the water is often too low even for such ships while in winter the lower reaches, sometimes as far as Vienna, are closed by ice. Third, the three German controlled companies Donau Dampfschiffahrts Gesellschaft, Bayrische Lloyd and Czech S D P, own together between 350,000 and 400,000 tons of tugs, barges and lighters. In addition there are a further 375,000 tons of similar vessels sailing under Hungarian, Roumanian, and Jugoslav flags, as well as some British, Dutch, and French river tankers. If all were available to Germany, it is said that only half its pre-war trade could be carried by river.

Rhine Shipping Hard Hit

It is believed here that Germany intends to transfer tugs and barges from the Rhine, where shipping is almost paralyzed, but the Rhine-Maine-Danube canal will need at least another year's labor before transfer will be possible.

Thus concentration on the Danube as a means of evading the blockade is not expected to provide an immediate solution to Germany's dilemma, despite starting upriver traffic at Turnu Severin, above the Iron Gate, with larger Roumanian tugs plying the lower part of the river from the Black Sea coast.

NEW FOODS GO IN BYRD SHIP

Concentrates Carried By Explorer On Trip To Pole

WASHINGTON — Admiral Richard E. Byrd carried with him to the Antarctic several new food concentrates prepared by Agriculture Department food experts to add variety to the diet of his expedition.

Some of the foods have not been placed on the market as yet. In a year or two they probably will be a staple grocery in commonplace use, food experts predicted.

Most of the foods were developed in the federal bureau of dairy industry laboratories and represent the efforts of dairy scientists to devise new ways to utilize skim milk and whey as human food.

The list includes a new kind of dried pea soup, made with whey powder; a new kind of wafer which is a mixture of potatoes, skim milk and salt, and new kinds of candies which contain whey solids.

Skim milk and whey are waste products of dairies. Millions of pounds of the two milk by-products now are thrown away or fed to hogs. Use of them in foods would open up a vast new market for the dairy industry.

The dried soup is pre-cooked dry powder which makes a complete soup when one can of the powder is mixed with four cans of water and boiled. It contains 65 per cent split pea solids, 25 per cent whey solids and 10 per cent fats.

The skim milk potato wafers are similar to potato chips, but contain no fat and therefore do not become rancid. The wafers are made by drying or toasting a mixture of boiled potatoes, skim milk and salt.

Two kinds of candy — carmels and fudge—were made by formulas that include 25 per cent whey solids. The whey candy is superior in food value to ordinary candies, because the whey solids displace some of the cane sugar and corn syrup. It is slightly less sweet than ordinary candy.

Would Stem Tide Of Law Violation By Nation's Youths

(By International News Service)

DENVER—A peacetime army of citizens to stem the growing tide of youthful law violation and to set an example to guide the youth of the country, is America's most crying need, according to Federal District Judge J. Foster Symes of Denver.

The federal judge aired his views when he accepted the report of a grand jury which returned 52 true bills containing charges that ran the gamut of law violations recently.

"I venture the opinion, based on long experience," Judge Symes said, "that two-thirds of these indictments are against young men."

A nod from the jury foreman confirmed Judge Symes' opinion and he continued.

"It is easy enough to get an army of defense in war time. It is easy to get men to fight for the flag of their country. But what the country needs is a loyal army of peacetime dedicated and determined to fight for the enforcement of law.

"In these indictments we have the spectacle of young men coming before this court as accused criminals. They are victims of broken homes — divorce, poverty, lack of education.

"We need an organization of peacetime fighters who will engage themselves in a fight against crime. It is easy to hire investigators, G-men and such, but real enforcement of the laws of the United States rests with its citizens."

QUAKERS START ON 16-GAME CAGE SCHEDULE

BATTLE COUNTY RIVAL IN GAME HERE TONIGHT

Three New Faces Appear In Starting Lineup Of Salem Team

The curtain goes up tonight on Salem High school's 1939-40 basketball season with Coach Herb Brown's Quakers facing an old Columbiana county rival, Lisbon's Blue Devils, in their first start of a 16-game campaign.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet at 7:30 in the preliminary game. The varsity contest will follow, starting at 8:30, with John Russ of Youngstown officiating.

Three Newcomers

Making their initial appearance in the Quaker starting lineup will be three players from last year's reserve team which flashed through the 1938-39 season, winning 14 games and losing only three.

Newcomers to the varsity lineup are expected to be Bob Shoe, Bob Umberger and Mike Thomas.

Veterans Glenn (Dinty) McLaughlin and Les Knepp will be assigned to the guard positions. McLaughlin and Knepp are the only holdovers from last season's varsity which won nine games and lost seven in its regular season.

Jimmy Kleon, another graduate of the reserve ranks, is expected to see action and may break into the starting lineup in place of Umberger. A senior with three years of reserve experience, Kleon was laid up early this week with a severe cold and his presence in the starting lineup is dependent upon his physical condition.

Others who may break into the lineup are Bob Jaeger, Bob Ritchie, and Jim Armeni. Johnny Volio, quarterbeck on the Quakers grid team, will probably appear in uniform with the varsity, but will not be used in action because the broken collarbone he received in the Alliance football game has not as yet mended.

Starts Seventh Season

In sending his 1939-40 team into action for the first time, Brown will be starting his seventh season as the Quakers basketball coach. His teams have played 120 games in six seasons, winning 81 and losing 39 for a percentage of .695.

Lisbon will be making its third start of the current season, having played Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and Malvern in previous games. The Blue Devils fell before Woodrow Wilson, 35-16, but came back the following night to trip Malvern, 20-11.

Intramural Sports

Three Salem High school intramural basketball leagues, organized early this week, started play last night. Practice for the intramural players has been going on for three weeks.

The intramural program includes three leagues, divided into classes according to the age and experience of the boys. The Class A league is for junior and senior boys who have had previous experience, the Class B league is for sophomores and more experienced freshmen, while the Class C circuit is for players who have had no previous experience.

Play Six Games

Six games featured the opening program with the Vols and Ghosts winning in Class A, the Hornets and Rangers in Class B and the Spartans and Redskins in Class C.

Dixon and Houlette paced the Ghosts to an 11-7 victory by scoring two baskets apiece against the Mustangs. "Buster" Wukotich scored four points for the losers.

In the other Class A game the Vols had an easy time running up a 26-10 victory over the Dopes. Capel rang up four field goals to set the pace for the Vols. Simion collected eight of the ten points for the Dopes.

The Tigers suffered defeat for the first time at the hands of the Rangers, 15-8, in one of the two Class B games. Dick Ehrhart hit the hoop for 6 points while Linder led the losers with six points.

King tallied three baskets to help the Hornets defeat the Mickies 22-13. Rich got four points to lead the Mickies.

Easy Victory

With Decrow hitting the hoop five times the Class C Spartans gained an easy victory over the Hawks 15-5. Catlos and Blanut shared scoring honors for the Hawks.

The other Class C game the Skyrockets went down to defeat at the hands of the Redskins 25-18. Laughlin led the scoring with 12 points for the Redskins, and Ritchie and Zimmerman got nine apiece for the Skyrockets.

Veteran Baseball Player To Coach

WOODSFIELD, Dec. 15 — "Sad Sam" Jones, who retired from baseball in 1935, said today he planned to leave March 15 for Avon Park, Fla., to act as coach-player for the Toronto club of the International league.

Jones, who recently has been coaching a local team, appeared with all the American league teams except Philadelphia and Detroit during his heyday. A former teammate with the New York Yankees, Tony Lazzeri, is manager of the Toronto team.

CREAMERY FIVE SPANKS CLOWNS

Smith Team Gains Win In Class B Cage Game At Memorial

Moving out in front in the second half after a close first-half battle, Smith's Creamery defeated the Carroll Clowns, 24-14, in a Class B league basketball game at the Memorial building last night.

The two teams battled on even terms for three periods before Smith's counted 10 points in the fourth quarter to win. The score was tied at 4-4 at the end of the first quarter and 7-7 at halftime. Smith's led by one point, 14-13, at the close of th ethird period.

Frank Theriault counted six points to lead Smith's to the victory. Three other members of his team scored five points apiece.

A scheduled Class B game between the St. Paul's and Trades Class was won by St. Paul on a forfeit.

COACHES NAME ALL-PRO TEAM

Only Four of Eleven First String Players Are Repeaters

NEW YORK, Dec. 155—The National pro football league coaches went for new faces this year in selecting their annual all-star team.

Only four of the eleven first stringers were repeaters and for the first time a couple of freshmen made the grade. Davey O'Brien of the Philadelphia Eagles and Bill Osmanski of the Chicago Bears were the newcomers who were chosen.

The veterans who again heard the call were Center Mel Hein of the New York Giants, in his seventh year, Dan Fortmann and Joe Stydahar of the Chicago Bears and Don Hutson of Green Bay.

The selections:

Don Hutson, Green Bay; Joe Stydahar, Bears; Dan Fortmann, Bears; Mel Hein, New York; John Dell Isola, New York; Jim Barber, Washington; Jim Poole, New York; Davey O'Brien, Philadelphia; Tuffy Leemans, New York; Andy Farkas, Washington; Bill Osmanski, Bears.

FELLER IN LINE TO TOP $30,000 INCOME IN 1940

Salary Alone Estimated At $26,500, Plus 'Extra Earnings

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15.—The question of what salary Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' ace hurler, is to receive this year is harder to pin down than a clam in a chowder.

Alva Bradley, club president, believes that Feller's income from baseball next year, directly and indirectly, will be "above $30,000."

Bradley also corrected the impression that the 21-year-old Van Meter, Ia., country lad who's been hurling in the American league four years, would receive "only $24,500" for his pitching services.

Feller signed his 1940 contract recently at a reported figure of $23,000—the highest ever paid an Indian player.

"You can quote me as saying it's considerably above that," Bradley said.

Asked whether $25,000 would be closer to the true figure, Bradley asserted again that it was above that amount.

No Bonus Clause

Questioned as to the exact amount, Bradley said that he only could estimate that the young strike-out pitcher would receive around $26,500 for his work alone on the mound. The club president admitted that this year there were no bonus clauses in Feller's contract. The flat salary is Feller's whether he has another great year as last season or a troublesome season like in 1937.

Bradley remarked that the first to call and congratulate him upon the signing of Feller was Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

"Landis always has called Feller 'my boy'," Bradley said. "He takes a real interest in the lad."

Feller, himself, who led the American league in strike-outs last season and rang up 24 victories for his best year with the Indians, was vague as to how much he would earn next year.

Radio, endorsements and exhibition appearances, however, are likely to add another $5,000 to his income.

Feller, who started with the Indians when he was a tall, gangling youth of 17, has added weight, stature, experience and consoling enough—a well-padded bankroll. The signing of his new contract was an expensive birthday gift from the Cleveland management, since he celebrated his 21st birthday Nov. 13.

Nearing $75,000 Mark

Thus, in four years with the Tribe, he will have earned at the end of this year an estimated $75,000.

Feller revealed that even though he had received more money than he ever had had in his life, there had been a slight difference between his estimate of the cash ability of his arm and the Indians' management, but that the difference was settled amicably.

"The Indians and I were a little apart in price," he said. "We talked awhile and then I signed.

"I'm going to do some quail-hunting during the off-season and spend a little time looking after an investment or two.

"I'm socking my dough away, some in annuities, some in insurance and some in other things. All my eggs aren't in one basket."

Feller received approximately $15,000 and a bonus for his work in 1937. His pay was boosted to $17,500 in 1938 and during the 1939 season he received a reported $20,000.

SALEM BOY ON DAYTON SQUAD

Charley McCloskey Expected To Play With Flyers

DAYTON, Dec. 15—Prepping for their forth-coming pre-Christmas basketball tour which will send them against five top ranking eastern colleges, the University of Dayton Flyers open their net season Saturday against Mount Union at Dayton.

Immediately following the Mount Union clash, the Flyers leave for the east where they battle Rhode Island, St. Joseph's, Long Island U., St. John's and Scranton on successive nights, returning home just two days before Christmas.

With only one returning from last year's varsity five, the Flyers will depend largely on three sophomores, including Charley McCloskey of Salem and Bob Kavanaugh, Paul Froendhoff.

Kavanaugh, a slender forward who specializes in long shots, and McCloskey, a rugged guard who paced all frosh scorers last season, will team with Walt Winklejohn, all Buckeye conference center in 1938-39, in providing the team's offensive spark.

Others battling for regular positions are Charley Zwiesley, diminutive forward, Gene Westendorf, junior guard, and sophomore "Deno" Keiter. Zwiesler and Westendorf, teammates throughout high school and college, saw considerable action last year and can be expected to add speed and balance to the Dayton attack. Keiter, a star end in football, is the best defensive player on the squad.

The Dayton team will be in the hands of a new coach, Jim Carter. Purdue grid immortal, who teamed with Duane Purvis to form the nationally famous "Touchdown Twins" in 1934. Carter replaces Joe Holsinger who resigned last spring to accept a post at Michigan State.

Risko Winner

AIKEN, S. D., Dec. 15—A fourth-round knockout gave Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, a ring victory over Jack Lawton, of Tampa, Fla., in a scheduled 10-round fight last night. Risko weighed 188 and Lawton 193.

Play Manchester

WOOSTER, Dec. 15 — Wooster college will open its 1940 football season here Sept. 28 against Manchester college, of North Manchester, Ind. It will be the first meeting of the schools.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15—Charles R. Burrell, 56, business manager of the Kansas City American Association baseball club since 1934, died last night of a heart attack after an abdominal operation.

CRIPPLED OHIO STATE QUINTET TAKES OPENER

Three Veterans Missing From Lineup In First Game of Season

(By Associated Press)

A crippled Ohio State team won its baskeball opener by downing Wabash 34 to 22 last night in the top attraction of a 10-game state program.

Capt. Robert Lynch, John Schick and William Sattler, the only survivors of the 1938-39 Big Ten championship team, watched the tussle from the sidelines due to scholastic ineligibility. The Bucks used 10 sophomores and four juniors. None ever had started a game for State.

Ohio led at half-time, 24 to 11, an exclusive sophomore lineup being outscored in the late periods. Forward Dick Fisher paced the Scarlet attack with eight points.

Play Tournament

Denison tripped Heidelberg, 34 to 25, and Ohio Northern stopped Findlay, 38 to 29, in the openers of a four-game Ohio conference tournament at Findlay. The two winners and two losers will clash tonight.

In other conference battles, Kent State edged Ashland, 37 to 36, and Muskingum defeated Capital, 45 to 38.

Youngstown shaded Hiram, 38 to 37; Tri-State (Ind.) beat Bluffton, 43 to 32; Wilmington turned back De Sales, 32 to 25; Wittenberg lost to Muhlenberg (Pa.), 49 to 43, and Cedarville stopped Wilberforce, 45 to 31.

PASTOR RISKS SHOT AT LOUIS

Places Ring Future On Block In Bout With Unknown Texan

DALLAS, Dec. 15 — Bicycle Bob Pastor, who swears "the third time will be the charm" against Champion Joe Louis, risks his ring future tonight against a youngster making his big bid for boxing fame.

Twice Pastor faced Louis—and twice he lost but captured a share of the glory.

He's after another crack at the titleholder and looks upon ambitious Buddy Scott of Dallas, a comparative unknown although he has won 73 of 79 bouts, as the test he needs to start his drive back.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 was forecast for the 10-round scrap.

Scott has yet to be knocked off his feet and numbers Tony Musto of Chicago, ranked among the first dozen heavyweights in the nation, among his victims. But Pastor ranked a 2 to 5 favorite.

James Jay Johnston, Pastor's manager, insists:

"We're not taking Scott lightly. Frankly we've never seen Scott work but we've checked his record and the record usually tells the story pretty well."

Both fighters are college products. The 25-year-old Pastor played football at New York university. Scott attended George Washington university but his only sport was boxing.

They will weigh about the same—183 pounds.

Class B Cage Star Already On Way To Scoring Honors

BY FRITZ HOWELL

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15 — High school happenings!

This high-scoring business on the scholastic basketball front is booming again, and from over in Auglaize county comes the first claim to the early-season leadership.

The boys over there are pointing to Roger (Rog) Phillips, six foot 3½-inch center of the Class B Cridersville team as the kid to beat.

He has piled 178 points into the bucket in seven games. He started with 35 against Roundhead and his lowest total was 11, scored Saturday before he went out on fouls against Lima Central. That game, incidentally, is the only loss chalked up against the Rams.

Cridersville has outscored the foe by 317 to 187. In five games Phillips counted more points than the opposing team.

(Note to college coaches: You may as well relax, for Phillips is only a junior.)

No Scoring Records

So far as this column knows, no one has ever kept complete scoring records for High schools down through the years. So if you know of any big season totals in the past, or any current stars who have topped Phillips' early-season splurge, how about dropping us a line?

And if you are in a letter-writing mood, how about dashing off a few lines to H. R. Townsend, state commissioner of High school athletics, on what you think of post-season football contests.

It seems that the state board, at its meeting Jan. 6, will discuss a rule which would outlaw the Buckeye Bowl game at Columbus, the Cleveland Plain Dealer's annual charity or late-season contests scheduled after schools have completed their regular slates.

Final decision of course, will be up to a vote of all the schools, but the board will frame the wording of the proposed rule Jan. 6.

Since most of the late-season games have been sponsored by newspapers hoping to clear up championship situations, or to obtain funds for charity, it is expected that a delegation of sports scribes will call on the state board to plead for continuation of he features.

Truck Dates

It's a long time until the outdoor track season, but it isn't too early to announce that two of the biggest features—the Mansfield relays and the Ohio Wesleyan team relays—fall on the same date, April 27. In the past the Mansfield feature, oldest of its kind in the country, has had a clear field on opening day.

Other track meets are: May 3, Devilbiss night relays at Toledo; May 4, 11th annual Salem, 13th annual Mentor, 4th annual Poland, and 7th annual Lanier relays; May 10-11, 5th annual Miami university relays.

In case you haven't jotted 'em down somewhere, here are some other High school dates: Feb. 15-17 and 23-24, county basketball tournaments; Feb. 29, March 1-2, sectional basketball tournaments; March 14-15-16, state basketball tournament; March 2, state swimming meet; March 8-9, state wrestling meet; May 24-25, state track, baseball, golf and tennis championships.

ZUPPKE PULLED BIGGEST UPSET IN 1939 SPORTS

Illinois Victory Over Michigan Was Year's Major Surprise

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Prof. Bob Zuppke, that magic man of the Illini, pulled the biggest rabbit out of the hat in 1939.

The nation's sports experts, voting in the ninth annual Associated Press poll on the year's outstanding surprises and upsets, today selected the mid-season victory of Prof. Bob's well-walloped Illinois football ers over the previously high-and-mighty Michigan Wolverines as No. 1 on the list.

This upset laid 'em in the aisles even more than the astonishing comeback of the Iowa footballers' in general and their 7-6 win over Notre Dame in particular, the experts—86 of them from 28 states—decided.

On the basis of three points for a first place selection, two for second and one for third, the surprise package Illinois exploded polled a total of 97½ points on 27 firsts, five seconds and 6½ thirds. Iowa's gridiron rejuvenation received 67 points and the Hawkeyes' win over the Irish won 28 points, for a combined total of 95 for second place. Twenty-five firsts were awarded the Hawkeyes.

Galento Third

Third on the list came two-ton Tony Galento and the job of work his left hand did on heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Lou Nova. The experts decided that when the barrel-shaped slugger sat Champion Joe on the seat of his pretty silk panties it was worth 16 points on the surprise list, and when his dainty southpaw hook flattened Nova it was worth 37½ more, thereby giving Galento 53½ points in the ballotting.

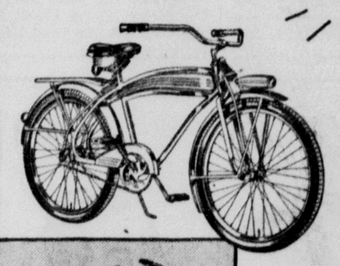

Named Captain

DETROIT, Dec. 15 — Casimere Brovarney of Detroit, a guard, was elected captain of the 1940 University of Detroit football team at the squad banquet last night and the "loyalty award" was bestowed on Tim Slovisky of Akron, right halfback.

QUAKERS START ON 16-GAME CAGE SCHEDULE

BATTLE COUNTY RIVAL IN GAME HERE TONIGHT

Three New Faces Appear In Starting Lineup Of Salem Team

The curtain goes up tonight on Salem High school's 1939-40 basketball season with Coach Herb Brown's Quakers facing an old Columbiana county rival, Lisbon's Blue Devils, in their first start of a 16-game campaign.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet at 7:30 in the preliminary game. The varsity contest will follow, starting at 8:30, with John Russ of Youngstown officiating.

Three Newcomers

Making their initial appearance in the Quaker starting lineup will be three players from last year's reserve team which flashed through the 1938-39 season, winning 14 games and losing only three.

Newcomers to the varsity lineup are expected to be Bob Shoe, Bob Umberger and Mike Thomas.

Veterans Glenn (Dinty) McLaughlin and Les Knepp will be assigned to the guard positions. McLaughlin and Knepp are the only holdovers from last season's varsity which won nine games and lost seven in its regular season.

Jimmy Kleon, another graduate of the reserve ranks, is expected to see action and may break into the starting lineup in place of Umberger. A senior with three years of reserve experience, Kleon was laid up early this week with a severe cold and his presence in the starting lineup is dependent upon his physical condition.

Others who may break into the lineup are Bob Jaeger, Bob Ritchie, and Jim Armeni. Johnny Volio, quarterbeck on the Quakers grid team, will probably appear in uniform with the varsity, but will not be used in action because the broken collarbone he received in the Alliance football game has not as yet mended.

Starts Seventh Season

In sending his 1939-40 team into action for the first time, Brown will be starting his seventh season as the Quakers basketball coach. His teams have played 120 games in six seasons, winning 81 and losing 39 for a percentage of .695.

Lisbon will be making its third start of the current season, having played Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and Malvern in previous games. The Blue Devils fell before Woodrow Wilson, 35-16, but came back the following night to trip Malvern, 20-11.

Intramural Sports

Three Salem High school intramural basketball leagues, organized early this week, started play last night. Practice for the intramural players has been going on for three weeks.

The intramural program includes three leagues, divided into classes according to the age and experience of the boys. The Class A league is for junior and senior boys who have had previous experience, the Class B league is for sophomores and more experienced freshmen, while the Class C circuit is for players who have had no previous experience.

Play Six Games

Six games featured the opening program with the Vols and Ghosts winning in Class A, the Hornets and Rangers in Class B and the Spartans and Redskins in Class C.

Dixon and Houlette paced the Ghosts to an 11-7 victory by scoring two baskets apiece against the Mustangs. "Buster" Wukotich scored four points for the losers.

In the other Class A game the Vols had an easy time running up a 28-10 victory over the Dopes. Capel rang up four field goals to set the pace for the Vols. Simion collected eight of the ten points for the Dopes.

The Tigers suffered defeat for the first time at the hands of the Rangers, 15-8, in one of the two Class B games. Dick Ehrhart hit the hoop for 6 points while Linder led the losers with six points.

King tallied three baskets to help the Hornets defeat the Mickies 22-13. Rich got four points to lead the Mickies.

Easy Victory

With Decrow hitting the hoop five times the Class C Spartans gained an easy victory over the Hawks 15-5. Catlos and Blanut shared scoring honors for the Hawks.

The other Class C game the Skyrockets went down to defeat at the hands of the Redskins 25-18. Laughlin led the scoring with 12 points for the Redskins, and Ritchie and Zimmerman got nine apiece for the Skyrockets.

Veteran Baseball Player To Coach

WOODSFIELD, Dec. 15 — "Sad Sam" Jones, who retired from baseball in 1935, said today he planned to leave March 15 for Avon Park, Fla., to act as coach-player for the Toronto club of the International league.

Jones, who recently has been coaching a local team, appeared with all the American league teams except Philadelphia and Detroit during his heyday. A former teammate with the New York Yankees, Tony Lazzeri, is manager of the Toronto team.

FELLER IN LINE TO TOP $30,000 INCOME IN 1940

Salary Alone Estimated At $26,500, Plus 'Extra Earnings

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15.—The question of what salary Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' ace hurler, is to receive this year is harder to pin down than a clam in a chowder.

Alva Bradley, club president, believes that Feller's income from baseball next year, directly and indirectly, will be "above $30,000."

Bradley also corrected the impression that the 21-year-old Van Meter, Ia., country lad who's been hurling in the American league four years, would receive "only $24,500" for his pitching services.

Feller signed his 1940 contract recently at a reported figure of $23,000—the highest ever paid an Indian player.

"You can quote me as saying it's considerably above that," Bradley said.

Asked whether $25,000 would be closer to the true figure, Bradley asserted again that it was above that amount.

No Bonus Clause

Questioned as to the exact amount, Bradley said that he only could estimate that the young strike-out pitcher would receive around $26,500 for his work alone on the mound. The club president admitted that this year there were no bonus clauses in Feller's contract. The flat salary is Feller's whether he has another great year as last season or a troublesome season like in 1937.

Bradley remarked that the first to call and congratulate him upon the signing of Feller was Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

"Landis always has called Feller 'my boy'," Bradley said. "He takes a real interest in the lad."

Feller, himself, who led the American league in strike-outs last season and rang up 24 victories for his best year with the Indians, was vague as to how much he would earn next year.

Radio, endorsements and exhibition appearances, however, are likely to add another $5,000 to his income.

Feller, who started with the Indians when he was a tall, gangling youth of 17, has added weight, stature, experience and consoling enough—a well-padded bankroll. The signing of his new contract was an expensive birthday gift from the Cleveland management, since he celebrated his 21st birthday Nov. 13.

Nearing $75,000 Mark

Thus, in four years with the Tribe, he will have earned at the end of this year an estimated $75,000.

Feller revealed that even though he had received more money than he ever had had in his life, there had been a slight difference between his estimate of the cash ability of his arm and the Indians' management, but that the difference was settled amicably.

"The Indians and I were a little apart in price," he said. "We talked awhile and then I signed.

"I'm going to do some quail-hunting during the off-season and spend a little time looking after an investment or two.

"I'm socking my dough away, some in annuities, some in insurance and some in other things. All my eggs aren't in one basket."

Feller received approximately $15,000 and a bonus for his work in 1937. His pay was boosted to $17,500 in 1938 and during the 1939 season he received a reported $20,000.

SALEM BOY ON DAYTON SQUAD

Charley McCloskey Expected To Play With Flyers

DAYTON, Dec. 15—Prepping for their forth-coming pre-Christmas basketball tour which will send them against five top ranking eastern colleges, the University of Dayton Flyers open their net season Saturday against Mount Union at Dayton.

Immediately following the Mount Union clash, the Flyers leave for the east where they battle Rhode Island, St. Joseph's, Long Island U., St. John's and Scranton on successive nights, returning home just two days before Christmas.

With only one returning from last year's varsity five, the Flyers will depend largely on three sophomores, including Charley McCloskey of Salem and Bob Kavanaugh, Paul Froendhoff.

Kavanaugh, a slender forward who specializes in long shots, and McCloskey, a rugged guard who paced all frosh scorers last season, will team with Walt Winklejohn, all Buckeye conference center in 1938-39, in providing the team's offensive spark.

Others battling for regular positions are Charley Zwiesley, diminutive forward, Gene Westendorf, junior guard, and sophomore "Deno" Keiter. Zwiesler and Westendorf, teammates throughout high school and college, saw considerable action last year and can be expected to add speed and balance to the Dayton attack. Keiter, a star end in football, is the best defensive player on the squad.

The Dayton team will be in the hands of a new coach, Jim Carter. Purdue grid immortal, who teamed with Duane Purvis to form the nationally famous "Touchdown Twins" in 1934. Carter replaces Joe Holsinger who resigned last spring to accept a post at Michigan State.

Risko Winner

AIKEN, S. D., Dec. 15—A fourth-round knockout gave Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, a ring victory over Jack Lawton, of Tampa, Fla., in a scheduled 10-round fight last night. Risko weighed 188 and Lawton 193.

Play Manchester

WOOSTER, Dec. 15 — Wooster college will open its 1940 football season here Sept. 28 against Manchester college, of North Manchester, Ind. It will be the first meeting of the schools.

Club Head Dies

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15—Charles R. Burrell, 56, business manager of the Kansas City American Association baseball club since 1934, died last night of a heart attack after an abdominal operation.

CRIPPLED OHIO STATE QUINTET TAKES OPENER

Three Veterans Missing From Lineup In First Game of Season

(By Associated Press)

A crippled Ohio State team won its baskeball opener by downing Wabash 34 to 22 last night in the top attraction of a 10-game state program.

Capt. Robert Lynch, John Schick and William Sattler, the only survivors of the 1938-39 Big Ten championship team, watched the tussle from the sidelines due to scholastic ineligibility. The Bucks used 10 sophomores and four juniors. None ever had started a game for State.

Ohio led at half-time, 24 to 11, an exclusive sophomore lineup being outscored in the late periods. Forward Dick Fisher paced the Scarlet attack with eight points.

Play Tournament

Denison tripped Heidelberg, 34 to 25, and Ohio Northern stopped Findlay, 38 to 29, in the openers of a four-game Ohio conference tournament at Findlay. The two winners and two losers will clash tonight.

In other conference battles, Kent State edged Ashland, 37 to 36, and Muskingum defeated Capital, 45 to 38.

Youngstown shaded Hiram, 38 to 37; Tri-State (Ind.) beat Bluffton, 43 to 32; Wilmington turned back De Sales, 32 to 25; Wittenberg lost to Muhlenberg (Pa.), 49 to 43, and Cedarville stopped Wilberforce, 45 to 31.

PASTOR RISKS SHOT AT LOUIS

Places Ring Future On Block In Bout With Unknown Texan

DALLAS, Dec. 15 — Bicycle Bob Pastor, who swears "the third time will be the charm" against Champion Joe Louis, risks his ring future tonight against a youngster making his big bid for boxing fame.

Twice Pastor faced Louis—and twice he lost but captured a share of the glory.

He's after another crack at the titleholder and looks upon ambitious Buddy Scott of Dallas, a comparative unknown although he has won 73 of 79 bouts, as the test he needs to start his drive back.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 was forecast for the 10-round scrap.

Scott has yet to be knocked off his feet and numbers Tony Musto of Chicago, ranked among the first dozen heavyweights in the nation, among his victims. But Pastor ranked a 2 to 5 favorite.

James Jay Johnston, Pastor's manager, insists:

"We're not taking Scott lightly. Frankly we've never seen Scott work but we've checked his record and the record usually tells the story pretty well."

Both fighters are college products. The 25-year-old Pastor played football at New York university. Scott attended George Washington university but his only sport was boxing.

They will weigh about the same —183 pounds.

Class B Cage Star Already On Way To Scoring Honors

BY FRITZ HOWELL

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15 — High school happenings!

This high-scoring business on the scholastic basketball front is booming again, and from over in Auglaize county comes the first claim to the early-season leadership.

The boys over there are pointing to Roger (Rog) Phillips, six foot 3½-inch center of the Class B Cridersville team as the kid to beat.

He has piled 178 points into the bucket in seven games He started with 35 against Roundhead and his lowest total was 11, scored Saturday before he went out on fouls against Lima Central That game, incidentally, is the only loss chalked up against the Rams.

Cridersville has outscored the foe by 317 to 187. In five games Phillips counted more points than the opposing team.

(Note to college coaches: You may as well relax, for Phillips is only a junior.)

No Scoring Records

So far as this column knows, no one has ever kept complete scoring records for High schools down through the years. So if you know of any big season totals in the past, or any current stars who have topped Phillips' early-season splurge, how about dropping us a line?

And if you are in a letter-writing mood, how about dashing off a few lines to H. R. Townsend, state commissioner of High school athletics, on what you think of post-season football contests.

It seems that the state board, at its meeting Jan. 6, will discuss a rule which would outlaw the Buckeye Bowl game at Columbus, the Cleveland Plain Dealer's annual charity or late-season contests scheduled after schools have completed their regular slates.

Final decision of course, will be up to a vote of all the schools, but the board will frame the wording of the proposed rule Jan. 6.

Since most of the late-season games have been sponsored by newspapers hoping to clear up championship situations, or to obtain funds for charity, it is expected that a delegation of sports scribes will call on the state board to plead for continuation of he features.

Truck Dates

It's a long time until the outdoor track season, but it isn't too early to announce that two of the biggest features—the Mansfield relays and the Ohio Wesleyan team relays—fall on the same date, April 27. In the past the Mansfield feature, oldest of its kind in the country, has had a clear field on opening day.

Other track meets are: May 3, Devilbiss night relays at Toledo; May 4, 11th annual Salem, 13th annual Mentor, 4th annual Poland, and 7th annual Lanier relays; May 10-11, 5th annual Miami university relays.

In case you haven't jotted 'em down somewhere, here are some other High school dates: Feb. 15-17 and 23-24, county basketball tournaments; Feb. 29, March 1-2, sectional basketball tournaments; March 14-15-16, state basketball tournament; March 2, state swimming meet; March 8-9, state wrestling meet; May 24-25, state track, baseball, golf and tennis championships.

ZUPPKE PULLED BIGGEST UPSET IN 1939 SPORTS

Illinois Victory Over Michigan Was Year's Major Surprise

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Prof. Bob Zuppke, that magic man of the Illini, pulled the biggest rabbit out of the hat in 1939.

The nation's sports experts, voting in the ninth annual Associated Press poll on the year's outstanding surprises and upsets, today selected the mid-season victory of Prof. Bob's well-walloped Illinois footballers over the previously high-and-mighty Michigan Wolverines as No. 1 on the list.

This upset laid 'em in the aisles even more than the astonishing comeback of the Iowa footballers' in general and their 7-6 win over Notre Dame in particular, the experts—86 of them from 28 states—decided.

On the basis of three points for a first place selection, two for second and one for third, the surprise package Illinois exploded polled a total of 97½ points on 27 firsts, five seconds and 6½ thirds. Iowa's gridiron rejuvenation received 67 points and the Hawkeyes' win over the Irish won 28 points, for a combined total of 95 for second place. Twenty-five firsts were awarded the Hawkeyes.

Galento Third

Third on the list came two-ton Tony Galento and the job of work his left hand did on heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Lou Nova. The experts decided that when the barrel-shaped slugger sat Champion Joe on the seat of his pretty silk panties it was worth 16 points on the surprise list, and when his dainty southpaw hook flattened Nova it was worth 37½ more, thereby giving Galento 53½ points in the ballotting.

Named Captain

DETROIT, Dec. 15 — Casimere Brovarney of Detroit, a guard, was elected captain of the 1940 University of Detroit football team at the squad banquet last night and the "loyalty award" was bestowed on Tim Slovisky of Akron, right halfback.

POLLY AND HER PALS

BOWLING RESULTS

A scorching 659 series by Forest Bishop of Berg Bretzels stole the spotlight from team activity in the Commercial league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

Bishop, who operates the Grate lanes for Owner E. L. Grate, fired games of 217, 223 and 219 to turn in the highest series recorded in the league this season. His fine performance enabled Berg's to win three games from the Salem Polo Club and advance from fifth to fourth place in the standings.

Smith Creamery increased its lead in the 12-team league from six to seven games by winning two out of three games with the Bliss while the second-place Washingtonville Odd Fellows were losing two games to the Trades Class.

Merit Shoes moved into a tie for second place with the Odd Fellows by taking two out of three games with People's Lumber. Other matches gave Ohio Bell three wins over the Leetonia Eagles and the Crescent Machine two victories over Jaycee All-Stars.

Cady of the Bliss team was second high to Bishop in individual scoring, posting a 607 series on games of 211,202 and 194.

The Draftsmen chalked up three wins over the Structural Dept. to remain out in front in the Electric Furnace league at the Masonic temple alleys.

Three victories over the Purchasing Dept. enabled the Shippers to continue in second place, one game behind the Draftsmen. In other Electric Furnace matches, the Electricians won two games from the Office and the Machinists two heats from the Transformers.

POLLY AND HER PALS

By Cliff Sterrett

BOWLING RESULTS

A scorching 659 series by Forest Bishop of Berg Bretzels stole the spotlight from team activity in the Commercial league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

Bishop, who operates the Grate lanes for Owner E. L. Grate, fired games of 217, 223 and 219 to turn in the highest series recorded in the league this season. His fine performance enabled Berg's to win three games from the Salem Polo Club and advance from fifth to fourth place in the standings.

Smith Creamery increased its lead in the 12-team league from six to seven games by winning two out of three games with the Bliss while the second-place Washingtonville Odd Fellows were losing two games to the Trades Class.

Merit Shoes moved into a tie for second place with the Odd Fellows by taking two out of three games with People's Lumber. Other matches gave Ohio Bell three wins over the Leetonia Eagles and the Crescent Machine two victories over Jaycee All-Stars.

Cady of the Bliss team was second high to Bishop in individual scoring, posting a 607 series on games of 211,202 and 194.

The Draftsmen chalked up three wins over the Structural Dept. to remain out in front in the Electric Furnace league at the Masonic temple alleys.

Three victories over the Purchasing Dept. enabled the Shippers to continue in second place, one game behind the Draftsmen. In other Electric Furnace matches, the Electricians won two games from the Office and the Machinists two heats from the Transformers.

Sam Snead Tied For Lead In Miami Golf

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 — Samuel Jackson Snead, scourge of the professional golfing ranks until he developed a misery in his back three months ago, is on the war path again.

"All I need is a few good holes to get my confidence back", he said a few days ago after regaining his health. "and I'll catch fire again."

Yesterday Snead scored a two-under-par 68 that tied him with seven others for the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami Open the year's final tournament.

"LOVE'S INTERLUDE" by —MAY— CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS

Moira Carewe met handsome, devil-may-care Tarleton Griggs during the era of prohibition, jazz and the "Black Bottom." The son of a rich man, Tarry lived reckless—only for today. It was that spirit which Moira loved. During her Christmas vacation from boarding school, Moira stayed at a modest hotel, in New York, with her father who was doing research work for the Museum of Natural History. To be near her, Tarry just moved from his Madison, Connecticut home into his father's New York apartment, while the latter was out of town, even though he knew "the old man'll raise the devil!" Then followed a merry round of the night clubs and theaters. For Moira, their last night together is blighted by the news that Tarry is leaving for Palm Beach at his father's suggestion. Lady Careen Kilmorny is there, and it is common gossip that the self-made, socially ambitious Joseph Griggs would welcome a match between her and his son. That summer, Tarry did not go back to Madison. Instead he toured Europe with his father. Moira was desolate. Now and then she'd get a gay card from him but that was all. However, the society columns told her plenty. There she saw pictures of Tarry and Lady Careen at one fashionable spot or another. Moira did not see Tarry again until Christmas and then just once, for skating. A year later, Griggs, Sr., gives a party to celebrate Tarry's coming of age. Moira is invited and Tarry showers her with attention, ignoring Lady Careen. It is a shock therefore, when at supper Mr. Griggs announces his son's engagement to Lady Careen. The wedding is set for Christmas day. Before his marriage, Tarry comes upon Moira, resting. He takes her in his arms and tells her it is she he loves, and that he is marrying Lady Careen because his father wishes it. Lady Careen intrudes upon the tender scene. Disillusioned, she gallops off and plunges over "Devil's Leap," breaking her neck. Although her death is listed as "accidental," there is much gossip. Moira and Tarry are conscious stricken and he goes abroad to forget.

CHAPTER VI

When Moira insisted on going to Paris with her Boston friends and tiny charges, there were no arguments now. With the ocean between her and the scene of the accident, and occupied with her little pupils and her studies at the Sorbonne, she would forget, thought Aunt Melinda and her father..... Weeks went by.

She worked herd. Every moment of the day was occupied. Time was a healer. And—there were letters from Tarry now. He was in England. If there were no actual words of love written, she read between the lines. Naturally it was no time to speak of love, with the tragedy that had touched that love so recent.

Spring came. He came to Paris too, to meet his father. He and his father were at the Crillon hotel. The great sweep of the Place de la Concorde under its windows blazed with tulips.

Tarry and Moira dined at Armenonville, in the Bois, the first night they met. Dined under the centuries-old trees that were festooned with lamps shaded like roses. Above that, the stars.

"I've missed you horribly, Moira!" He looked older. More serious.

"It's wonderful having you here, Tarry! How long will you be staying?" She drew a deep breath.

"Depends on the old man. He's crotchety. I may have to go to Baden-Baden with him. His liver, you know."

He did not ask her of her own plans

They danced on the open-air platform. It reminded her of that other time she had danced with him on such a platform—at Tourney Park at his coming-of-age, directly before his engagement had been announced by his father. It had been a thunder-bolt to her that night!

Always, it seemed, when she was happiest with Tarry, disaster followed. Don't think of that.

Live in the moment. That was his credo.

"I'm booked to go out to the races at Autueil tomorrow with the old man. We've a dinner and theatre-party afterwards, with some friends from Philadelphia."

"Women?"

"Um. The Vandergelts. Mama and daughter. They're at the Ritz."

"Is she pretty, Tarry?" Idiotic question! Laugh it off!

"Not as pretty as you. But lively as a cricket. Her mother says they too are going on to Baden-Baden. I think that's what gave my old man his cue."

"Will you be free the day after tomorrow. Tarry?" It was her birthday.

"Do my best. Any special reason why?"

She told him.

"We'll celebrate! I'll pick you up at twelve-thirty."

He brought orchids for her. They glorified her plain little suit. Then to the most fashionable spot in Paris at that time, the famous Ladies' Bar in the Ritz Hotel. The small room was packed. They had champagne cocktails, lunched in the garden. Then to the races at Longchamps. Tarry placed bets for her. She won eight hundred francs.

There's the old man with the Vandergelts," he later told her, an odd expression in his eyes. She followed his glance to two tall, slim, beautifully-dressed women who were strolling in the paddock on against birds-of-paradise. Nor was Griggs.

"Tarry, let's get away from here! D'you mind?"

She didn't want to meet the Vandergelts. She felt like a wren agains tbirds-of-paradise. Nor was she at all sure of the reception from Griggs Senior.

"All right. The Pre Catalan for tea? It's nearby."

Couldn't he guess how much she wanted to be alone with him? Why did he always want her in a crowd?

It was lovely on th elake, and cool. But other couples were in other boats. Tarry seemed restless.

"Let's land and take a walk. Nice among the trees."

"I'd love that."

One could lose oneself in the innumerable glades of the Bois. The late sun of afternoon cast shadows, and wild flowers made a carpet.

"Not bored, Tarry? Would you rather be with your other friends?"

They had found a bench under a hawthorn tree in bloom. The air was heavy with its fragrance.

"Bored? No! But I've something on my mind." He was poking bits of turf with the end of his cane, his brows knitted.

"What is it?"

"I wish to heaven I had my own money — enough to get married with, I mean!"

Her heart almost stopper.

"Married? To—to whom?"

"To you, darling. Who else? Oh, if only my old man weren't such a martinet!" he groaned.

"But money—money doesn't matter if we love each other,. Tarry! And we do love each other! Darling, I'll wait!"

They were in each other's arms.

That was enough. She was divinely happy.

"I'll tell him tonight, Moira. He's got more than a suspicion of my feeling for you already. Maybe I can bring him around!"

So to dinner in the Chateau de Madrid. Tarry and his father were going somewhere, later, with the Vandergelts.

* * *

He came next morning, to the simple apartment where Moira earned room and board. Not Tarry, but his father! His ultimatum was brief and to the point.

"This boy-and-girl affair has got to end! I've other views for Tarleton's future, and I've told him that if he goes against my wishes and marries you, I'll cut him off without a nickel! Now I don't want to hear any romantic poppycock about love in a cottage, and that sort of stuff! Tarleton has been brought up expensively, and he'd be miserable without money. If you care for him, for his own sake, you'll let him go, my good girl! But I'm a fair man. I'm willing to write you a substantial check here and now if you will give me your promise you won't try to see him or communicate with him?"

She had refused. Both promises and money.

And Joseph P. Griggs redder of face than ever—he looked apoplectic—suppose he ha da stroke in the apartment? — had strode angrily away.

Next morning they had gone to Baden-Baden. From there, Tarry wrote her. Let the old man cool off!

But she was wretched about it.

She saw, in the Paris edition of the Herald-Tribune, that the Vandergelts were also in Baden-Baden! The item further stated that Miss Sadie Vandergelt would be presented by the wife of the American Ambassador at the First Court of St. James in London!

She stayed on in Paris, waiting from week to week for Tarry's return. She got a letter from London, informing her that his father had taken a house in Bruton street for the season, and was being very tiresome, insisting on giving lavish parties.

"As soon as I get a chance, I'll run over to Paris, and you," he wrote.

But he did not come.

"Too busy with the Vandergelt debutante!" she thought unhappily.

They returned to New York in late September. The financial cataclysm broke. Tens of thousands were ruined.

Among them Joseph P. Griggs. His fortune was swept away. He had no money to meet his commitments.

Her Boston friends were badly hit too by the falling stock-market. She went home with them sadly.

The night of her arrival in New York, the evening papers carried the news that Joseph P. Griggs had died suddenly of a stroke.

"LOVE'S INTERLUDE" by —MAY— CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS

Moira Carewe met handsome, devil-may-care Tarleton Griggs during the era of prohibition, jazz and the "Black Bottom." The son of a rich man, Tarry lived reckless—only for today. It was that spirit which Moira loved. During her Christmas vacation from boarding school, Moira stayed at a modest hotel, in New York, with her father who was doing research work for the Museum of Natural History. To be near her, Tarry just moved from his Madison, Connecticut, home into his father's New York apartment, while the latter was out of town, even though he knew "the old man'll raise the devil!" Then followed a merry round of the night clubs and theaters. For Moira, their last night together is blighted by the news that Tarry is leaving for Palm Beach at his father's suggestion. Lady Careen Kilmorny is there, and it is common gossip that the self-made, socially ambitious Joseph Griggs would welcome a match between her and his son. That summer, Tarry did not go back to Madison. Instead he toured Europe with his father. Moira was desolate. Now and then she'd get a gay card from him but that was all. However, the society columns told her plenty. There she saw pictures of Tarry and Lady Careen at one fashionable spot or another. Moira did not see Tarry again until Christmas and then just once, for skating. A year later, Griggs, Sr., gives a party to celebrate Tarry's coming of age. Moira is in invited and Tarry showers her with attention, ignoring Lady Careen. It is a shock therefore, when at supper Mr. Griggs announces his son's engagement to Lady Careen. The wedding is set for Christmas day. Before his marriage, Tarry comes upon Moira, resting. He takes her in his arms and tells her it is she he loves, and that he is marrying Lady Careen because his father wishes it. Lady Careen intrudes upon the tender scene. Disillusioned, she gallops off and plunges over "Devil's Leap," breaking her neck. Although her death is listed as "accidental," there is much gossip. Moira and Tarry are conscious stricken and he goes abroad to forget.

CHAPTER VI

When Moira insisted on going to Paris with her Boston friends and tiny charges, there were no arguments now. With the ocean between her and the scene of the accident, and occupied with her little pupils and her studies at the Sorbonne, she would forget, thought Aunt Melinda and her father..... Weeks went by.

She worked herd. Every moment of the day was occupied. Time was healer. And—there were letters from Tarry now. He was in England. If there were no actual words of love written, she read between the lines. Naturally it was no time to speak of love, with the tragedy that had touched that love so recent.

Spring came. He came to Paris too, to meet his father. He and his father were at the Crillon hotel. The great sweep of the Place de la Concorde under its windows blazed with tulips.

Tarry and Moira dined at Armenonville, in the Bois, the first night they met. Dined under the centuries-old trees that were festooned with lamps shaded like roses. Above that, the stars.

"I've missed you horribly, Moira!" He looked older. More serious.

"It's wonderful having you here, Tarry! How long will you be staying?" She drew a deep breath.

"Depends on the old man. He's crotchety. I may have to go to Baden-Baden with him. His liver, you know."

He did not ask her of her own plans

They danced on the open-air platform. It reminded her of that other time she had danced with him on such a platform—at Tourney Park at his coming-of-age, directly before his engagement had been announced by his father. It had been a thunder-bolt to her that night!

Always, it seemed, when she was happiest with Tarry, disaster followed. Don't think of that.

Live in the moment. That was his credo.

"I'm booked to go out to the races at Autueil tomorrow with the old man. We've a dinner and theatre-party afterwards, with some friends from Philadelphia."

"Women?"

"Um. The Vandergelts. Mama and daughter. They're at the Ritz."

"Is she pretty, Tarry?" Idiotic question! Laugh it off!

"Not as pretty as you. But lively as a cricket. Her mother says they too are going on to Baden-Baden. I think that's what gave my old man his cue."

"Will you be free the day after tomorrow, Tarry?" It was her birthday.

"Do my best. Any special reason why?"

She told him.

"We'll celebrate! I'll pick you up at twelve-thirty."

He brought orchids for her. They glorified her plain little suit. Then to the most fashionable spot in Paris at that time, the famous Ladies' Bar in the Ritz Hotel. The small room was packed. They had champagne cocktails, lunched in the garden. Then to the races at Longchamps. Tarry placed bets for her. She won eight hundred francs.

There's the old man with the Vandergelts," he later told her, an odd expression in his eyes. She followed his glance to two tall, slim, beautifully-dressed women who were strolling in the paddock on against birds-of-paradise. Nor was Griggs.

"Tarry, let's get away from here! D'you mind?"

She didn't want to meet the Vandergelts. She felt like a wren agains tbirds-of-paradise. Nor was she at all sure of the reception from Griggs Senior.

"All right. The Pre Catalan for tea? It's nearby."

Couldn't he guess how much she wanted to be alone with him? Why did he always want her in a crowd?

It was lovely on th elake, and cool. But other couples were in other boats. Tarry seemed restless.

"Let's land and take a walk. Nice among the trees."

"I'd love that."

One could lose oneself in the innumerable glades of the Bois. The late sun of afternoon cast shadows, and wi d flowers made a carpet.

"Not bored, Tarry? Would you rather be with your other friends?"

They had found a bench under a hawthorn tree in bloom. The air was heavy with its fragrance.

"Bored? No! But I've something on my mind." He was poking bits of turf with the end of his cane, his brows knitted.

"What is it?"

"I wish to heaven I had my own money — enough to get married with, I mean!"

Her heart almost stopper.

"Married? To—to whom?"

"To you, darling. Who else? Oh, if only my old man weren't such a martinet!" he groaned.

"But money—money doesn't matter if we love each other., Tarry! And we do love each other! Darling, I'll wait!"

They were in each other's arms. That was enough. She was divinely happy.

"I'll tell him tonight, Moira. He's got more than a suspicion of my feeling for you already. Maybe I can bring him around!"

So to dinner in the Chateau de Madrid. Tarry and his father were going somewhere, later, with the Vandergelts.

* * *

He came next morning, to the simple apartment where Moira earned room and board. Not Tarry, but his father! His ultimatum was brief and to the point.

"This boy-and-girl affair has got to end! I've other views for Tarleton's future, and I've told him that if he goes against my wishes and marries you, I'll cut him off without a nickel! Now I don't want to hear any romantic poppycock about love in a cottage, and that sort of stuff! Tarleton has been brought up expensively, and he'd be miserable without money. If you care for him, for his own sake, you'll let him go, my good girl! But I'm a fair man. I'm willing to write you a substantial check here and now if you will give me your promise you won't try to see him or communicate with him?"

She had refused. Both promises and money.

And Joseph P. Griggs redder of face than ever—the looked apoplectic—suppose he ha da stroke in the apartment? — had strode angrily away.

Next morning they had gone to Baden-Baden. From there, Tarry wrote her. Let the old man cool off!

But she was wretched about it.

MORMON FAIR HONORS WEST

Group Formed to Plan Utah Centennial Exposition

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Although the world's fairs and expositions of 1939 are still not over—they will continue in 1940—a new exposition is being planned for 1947.

It is the Utah Centennial exposition.

The exposition, to be held from May 1 to Oct. 15, 1947, will mark the 100th anniversary of the entrance into Salt Lake valley of the group of Mormon pioneers, whom Brigham Young led away from persecutions in the east to form a new home in the western desert.

A 16-man centennial commission has been appointed by Gov. Henry H. Blood to plan the exposition. The commission's membership includes many of Utah's leading citizens and has for its chairman David D. McKay, second counselor to Heber J. Grant, president of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church.

Other states will be invited to participate in the exposition, as will the federal government.

Site Not Definite

No definite site has been selected for the buildings that will house the centennial exhibits, although the commission is studying several possible locations in Salt Lake valley near Salt Lake City.

In addition to commemorating the entrance of the Mormon pioneers into this valley, the exposition also is designed, under terms of a 1939 state law, to "portray fittingly the natural resources and scenic wonders of Utah, the prehistoric culture of the west and the development of irrigation, farming, mining, forestry, transportation, culture and the arts."

In addition to McKay, the commission members are J. F. Fitzpatrick, S. O. Bennion, Nephi L. Morris, John M. Wallace, D. M. Draper, Gus P. Backman, Donald P. Lloyd and I. A. Smoot, all Salt Lake City; Mrs. Rosella F. Larkin and J. A. Howell, Ogden; Mrs. Mary R. Mower, Pleasant Grove; F. P. Champ, Logan; former Gov. Charles R. Mabey and Ward C. Holbrook, Bountiful, and A. O. Ellett, Spanish Fork.

The anniversary of the entrance of the Mormon pioneers into Salt Lake valley—July 24—is celebrated in Utah even more vigorously than the Fourth of July.

Fled East In 1830

Brigham Young was the second president of the Mormon church. Members of the denomination, formed in 1830 in New York by Joseph Smith, had been driven from Missouri and Illinois, where Smith and his brother Hyrum were stoned to death by a mob.

Young told of a vision of a virtual oasis in the west where the Mormons could worship in peace, according to their belief. After a long trek through the wilderness, the band of Mormons came to the valley of the Great Salt Lake.

MORMON FAIR HONORS WEST

Group Formed to Plan Utah Centennial Exposition

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Although the world's fairs and expositions of 1939 are still not over—they will continue in 1940—a new exposition is being planned for 1947.

It is the Utah Centennial exposition.

The exposition, to be held from May 1 to Oct. 15, 1947, will mark the 100th anniversary of the entrance into Salt Lake valley of the group of Mormon pioneers, whom Brigham Young led away from persecutions in the east to form a new home in the western desert.

A 16-man centennial commission has been appointed by Gov. Henry H. Blood to plan the exposition. The commission's membership includes many of Utah's leading citizens and has for its chairman David D. McKay, second counselor to Heber J. Grant, president of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church.

Other states will be invited to participate in the exposition, as will the federal government.

Site Not Definite

No definite site has been selected for the buildings that will house the centennial exhibits, although the commission is studying several possible locations in Salt Lake valley near Salt Lake City.

In addition to commemorating the entrance of the Mormon pioneers into this valley, the exposition also is designed, under terms of a 1939 state law, to "portray fittingly the natural resources and scenic wonders of Utah, the prehistoric culture of the west and the development of irrigation, farming, mining, forestry, transportation, culture and the arts."

In addition to McKay, the commission members are J. F. Fitzpatrick, S. O. Bennion, Nephi L. Morris, John M. Wallace, D. M. Draper, Gus P. Backman, Donald P. Lloyd and I. A. Smoot, all Salt Lake City; Mrs. Rosella F. Larkin and J. A. Howell, Ogden; Mrs. Mary R. Mower, Pleasant Grove; F. P. Champ, Logan; former Gov. Charles R. Mabey and Ward C. Holbrook, Bountiful, and A. O. Ellett, Spanish Fork.

The anniversary of the entrance of the Mormon pioneers into Salt Lake valley—July 24—is celebrated in Utah even more vigorously than the Fourth of July.

Fled East In 1830

Brigham Young was the second president of the Mormon church. Members of the denomination, formed in 1830 in New York by Joseph Smith, had been driven from Missouri and Illinois, where Smith and his brother Hyrum were stoned to death by a mob.

Young told of a vision of a virtual oasis in the west where the Mormons could worship in peace, according to their belief. After a long trek through he wilderness, the band of Mormons came to the valley of the Great Salt Lake.

Bob Hope gets his best screen role and does his best film work in the mystery comedy, "The Cat and the Canary", which shows tonight and Saturday at the State theater.

Paulette Goddard, Douglass Montgomery, John Beal, Gale Sondergaard, Elizabeth Patterson and George Zucco have supporting roles in the story of a wise-cracking radio comedian who follows his girl-friend to a lonely mansion where she learns she will inherit a fortune if she is not dead or insane in a month.

Based on a successful stage play by the same name, the screen version combines mystery, comedy and romance in a skillfully concocted tale that becomes top-notch entertainment for fans who like their film fare on the eerie side.

A group of people who expect to inherit part of a relative's estate gather in the spooky old mansion in the Louisiana bayous, where he lived, to hear his will read at midnight. The will leaves the fortune to Miss Goddard, providing that a second heir will inherit it if she is dead or insane in a month. A murderous inmate from a neighboring asylum escapes and the lawyer is murdered. Paulette's life is threatened by a creature called "The Cat" and Hope sets out to solve the murderer's identity.

Clever dialogue and good performances turn the stock situations and setting to good advantage, providing better than average mystery-comedy fare.

At the Grand tonight and Saturday is Tex Ritter's "Roll Wagons Roll".

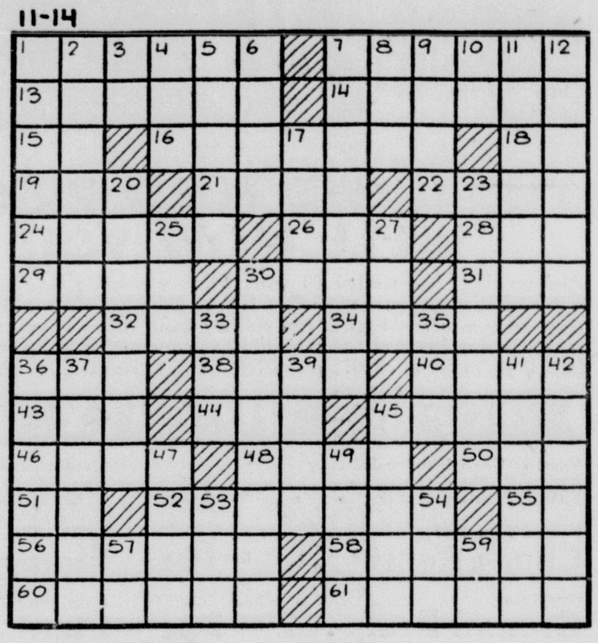

DES MOINES, Ia.—A French girl is coming to Des Moines in September to study—not English—but French. She is Martha Thomas of Bou-Haniflales-Thermes, Oranie, Algeria. She plans to attend Drake university to do graduate work in Franch.

Nimrods

LOS ANGELES—A couple of hunters took potshots at low-flying army planes that scared away the ducks.

They were indicted for damaging government property. The planes were peppered with buckshot. Damage was estimated at $1,000 per plane.

Just Souvenirs

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Frank Williams, 51, after serving a 41-day jail term for a minor offense, was about to go home.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Bledsoe searched him and found a jail-owned towel, soap and spoon in his pocket.

TUCSON, Ariz.—When a stable caught fire in which six horses were locked, Dick, a trained horse belonging to Deputy Sheriff Al Franco, lifted the latch with his nose and released himself and his comrades.

U. S. FORECASTS BRIGHTER YEAR

Economists See Demand Improving and Prices Slightly Higher

WASHINGTON — Improved demand and slightly higher prices probably will boost farm prosperity considerably in 1940, the Agriculture Department predicts.

Total income, including $700,000,000 in government benefit payments, may equal or surpass 1937, which now ranks as the best year since 1930.

A gross farm income of close to $10,000,000,000 does not appear improbable, officials said.

Farm prosperity usually lags behind industrial recovery. Rising industrial activity the last half of this year along with increased factory employment and general business improvement will be reflected next year on the farms.

Purchasing Power Up

Consumer purchasing power will be greater next year, economists predicted. Prices of most farm products have been rising steadily, although not sensationally, since mid-summer. European war demands for wheat, cotton and meats are expected to continue an upward trend.

Wheat—The acreage seeded to wheat may be about the same as for 1939 — 65,000,000 acres — but yields per acre may be smaller because of the fall drouth. This may result in a crop below domestic requirements and a consequent reduction in present surpluses.

Cotton—This year's crop of 11,845,000 bales will be approximately 2,000,000 bales below domestic consumption and export demand. Exports may be double last year and domestic consumption at least 1,000,000 bales larger. Price trend is upward.

Feed grains—The supply of feed grains, including corn, oats, hay and sorghums, is larger than last year. Due to an increase in livestock, the supply per animal is less. The corn supply is at a near-record of 3,100,000,000 bushels. Corn prices will be higher this winter and spring than a year ago.

Meat Supplies Larger

Meat animals—Hog supplies 20 per cent larger than last year. The tendency toward lower prices will be offset by improved domestic and export demand. Cattle supplies slightly larger and prices higher in 1940 than 1939. Lamb supplies larger and prices higher next year than in 1939.

Dairy Products—Total production will continue high. Prices have strengthened due to business recovery and may show further improvement in 1940 as a whole.

Poultry and eggs—Smaller supplies and larger incomes in the latter part of 1940 are expected to result in a general improvement in poultry and egg prices compared with 1939.

Fruits—Continued expansion in fruit supplies is expected in the next few years, and for any material improvement in prices a substantial increase of consumer purchasing power would be necessary.

Potatoes and truck crops—The 1940 potato crop probably will be larger than in 1939 and above average for the past 10 years, but consumer demand will be better. Total supplies of commercial truck crops are likely to increase in 1940, but increased demand is expected to keep prices steady.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — It's no news for poker chips to be causing trouble, only in this case the trouble comes even before they are put into play. The Paper Mill Workers Union, Local 215 (AFL), has sent a letter of protest to Washington asking that each Japanese-made chip be required to carry the label "Made in Japan."

Kennedy told the newsmen that London is less fearful of air attacks now than at any time since the war began and that night clubs, theaters and movies are doing a big business.

Synthetic Vitamin Aid In Treatment Of Blood Diseases

(By International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. .—A new synthetic form of vitamin K, valuable in surgical operations in reducing loss of blood, has been discovered by University of California scientists.

Vitamin K is an anti-hemorrhagic or blood-clotting factor found chiefly in alfalfa and other green plants. It is valuable in human hemorrhages in many diseases, like yellow jaundice.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the discovery by Mrs. H. J. Almquist and A. A. Close of the California University staff, the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, announced a similar discovery.

The two California scientists also announced they had found a simple and cheap chemical known at "2-methynapthoquinone," which is four times as strong as vitamin K in its blood-clotting properties.

Previously Close and Almquist revealed the discovery of another synthetic form of Vitamin K, phthiocol, which possesses the valuable qualities of going into solution with water, which then can be injected into the blood stream.

This latter chemical is valuable where there is insufficient absorption of the vitamin from the diet.

All of these compounds have been used successfully at the Mayo clinic, the scientists said.

Consumer purchasing power will be greater next year, economists predicted. Prices of most farm products have been rising steadily, although not sensationally, since mid-summer. European war demands for wheat, cotton and meats are expected to continue an upward trend.

Wheat—The acreage seeded to wheat may be about the same as for 1939 — 65,000,000 acres — but yields per acre may be smaller because of the fall drouth. This may result in a crop below domestic requirements and a consequent reduction in present surpluses.

Cotton—This year's crop of 11,845,000 bales will be approximately 2,000,000 bales below domestic consumption and export demand. Exports may be double last year and domestic consumption at least 1,000,000 bales larger. Price trend is upward.

Feed grains—The supply of feed grains, including corn, oats, hay and sorghums, is larger than last year. Due to an increase in livestock, the supply per animal is less. The corn supply is at a near-record of 3,100,000,000 bushels. Corn prices will be higher this winter and spring than a year ago.

Meat Supplies Larger

Meat animals—Hog supplies 20 per cent larger than last year. The tendency toward lower prices will be offset by improved domestic and export demand. Cattle supplies slightly larger and prices higher in 1940 than 1939. Lamb supplies larger and prices higher next year than in 1939.

Dairy Products—Total production will continue high. Prices have strengthened due to business recovery and may show further improvement in 1940 as a whole.

Poultry and eggs—Smaller supplies and larger incomes in the latter part of 1940 are expected to result in a general improvement in poultry and egg prices compared with 1939.

Fruits—Continued expansion in fruit supplies is expected in the next few years, and for any material improvement in prices a substantial increase of consumer purchasing power would be necessary.

Potatoes and truck crops—The 1940 potato crop probably will be larger than in 1939 and above average for the past 10 years, but consumer demand will be better. Total supplies of commercial truck crops are likely to increase in 1940, but increased demand is expected to keep prices steady.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — It's no news for poker chips to be causing trouble, only in this case the trouble comes even before they are put into play. The Paper Mill Workers Union, Local 215 (AFL), has sent a letter of protest to Washington asking that each Japanese-made chip be required to carry the label "Made in Japan."

Kennedy Home

Joseph P. Kennedy

Returning to the United States via clipper plane to spend Christmas with his family and to tell the U. S. state department "things that are inconvenient to put into a cabled report," Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to Britain, is surrounded by newsmen at Port Washington, L. I. Kennedy told the newsmen that London is less fearful of air attacks now than at any time since the war began and that night clubs, theaters and movies are doing a big business.

Synthetic Vitamin Aid In Treatment Of Blood Diseases

(By International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. .—A new synthetic form of vitamin K, valuable in surgical operations in reducing loss of blood, has been discovered by University of California scientists.

Vitamin K is an anti-hemorrhagic or blood-clotting factor found chiefly in alfalfa and other green plants. It is valuable in human hemorrhages in many diseases, like yellow jaundice.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the discovery by Mrs. H. J. Almquist and A. A. Close of the California University staff, the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, announced a similar discovery.

The two California scientists also announced they had found a simple and cheap chemical known at "2-methynapthoquinone," which is four times as strong as vitamin K in its blood-clotting properties.

Previously Close and Almquist revealed the discovery of another synthetic form of Vitamin K, phthiocol, which possesses the valuable qualities of going into solution with water, which then can be injected into the blood stream.

This latter chemical is valuable where there is insufficient absorption of the vitamin from the diet.

All of these compounds have been used successfully at the Mayo clinic, the scientists said.

MIDDLETOWN—The "old gray mare" really exists for Mrs. Martha Hess, who owns Babe, 30 years old. "She's been with us so long she's just like one of the family", Mrs. Hess said.
